Board To Receive Road Bids Today; Seen as 'Gesture'

Federal Bureau To File
Low Bids and Hold Cash
Until Dictatorship of Funds Is Untangled by Verdict of High Courts.

ULTIMATUM SENT TO OIL COMPANIES

Firms Threatened With Collection on Bonds If They Do Not Bow to Demands for Tax Money

The full force of highway work stoppage as a result of Governor Talmadge's dictatorship of state's finances is expected to be felt today when the highway board receives bids on $1,000,000 worth of federal road and bridge projects for which contracts will not be let.

It was learned yesterday that the federal Bureau of Public Roads will receive and file the low bids on the projects up for contract today, but that there will be no contract awards and no money available for work to start until it has been finally determined who is the legal treasurer of the state.

Meanwhile Governor Talmadge is demanding a showdown with oil companies which are due to pay to the state about $1,300,000 in February gasoline tax collections today. The companies have announced that they plan to put the money in Atlanta banks and send to the capital checks made payable to "the controller-general of the state of Georgia." Because the banks are not recognizing the de facto setup in the controller's office as well as in the treasury, the money is not expected to become immediately available to the Governor.
However, observers predict that in time the Governor will be able to force the oil companies to pay their taxes in cash or in checks that can be cashed.

Governor Sends Ultimatum.

The Governor, expecting a refusal to pay today, yesterday sent an ultimatum to the oil companies demanding payment at once.

All of the oil companies have indemnify bonds sufficient to cover any taxes that they may owe. These indemnity bonds are understood to be in the possession of the de facto controller, G. B. Carreker. In this ultimatum yesterday, the Governor said that if the companies fail to pay, executions will be issued and "collection enforced as provided by law."

The ultimatum follows:

"All petroleum companies doing business in the state of Georgia are hereby notified that they must file their return to the controller-general's office at the state capital, Atlanta, Ga., not later than Friday, March 20, 1936, showing tax due and owing the state as of that date for

TALMADGE MOVES TO RUSH APPEAL OF COURT VERDICT

Bill of Exceptions Is Received by Judges as Governor Paves Way for High Tribunal's Ruling.

Governor Talmadge yesterday moved to rush court litigation growing out of his dictatorship of state finances to the state supreme court for adjudication.

Acting under instructions from the Governor, Special Assistant Attorney-General Samuel D. Hewlett laid before a three-judge Fulton superior court which last week held that it had authority to inquire into the Governor's dictatorship a bill of exceptions appealing the decision of that court to the supreme court. The bill was filed in the case of the Citizens & Southern Bank and the First National Bank of Marietta. Appeals in the cases involving the First National Bank are to be laid before the court today.

The matter of granting the appeal is before Judges John D. Humphries,
E. E. Pomeroy and Virgil B. Moore.
The proceedings were not filed with the court, merely received yesterday.
However, the lower court is expected to grant the appeal from the two-to-one decision of the court, in which Judges
Pomeroy and Moore divided against Judge Humphries.

Governor's Contentions.
Hewlett and his associates in the state department of law, minus the aid of Attorney-General M. J. Yeomans, who has declined to recognize the legality of the Governor's de facto setup in the office of controller-general and state treasurer, asked the lower court to permit a review by the supreme court on the following four contentions of the Governor:

1. The three-judge court was without jurisdiction to issue an injunction on Hamilton's effort to interpose.

2. The court was also without jurisdiction to consider any question except the requirement of Hamilton and Daniel to interpose in the banks' suits.

3. The court order amounted to a court of equity taking charge of the affairs of Georgia, which is beyond the jurisdiction of any court of equity.
4. The court order actually is an injunction against the state which "could not be a party to said cause."

Neither the banks involved nor George B. Hamilton, ousted treasurer, are expected to attempt to block the appeal.

LaGrange Hearing Tomorrow.
Meanwhile, attention regarding the court action was being diverted to La-Grange, where tomorrow Judge Lee
B. Wyatt, of the Troup superior court, will conduct a hearing on the application of officers of the Georgia Federation of Labor for an injunction to prevent J. B. Daniel, de facto treasurer, from paying out funds of the state for any purpose.

Jack C. Savage, Atlanta attorney for the labor organization, will plead for the injunction while Hewlett and his associates will oppose it.

As Second History-Making Flood Plunged Through Johnstown Streets

Already devastated by the worst flood since the great disaster of 1889 in which 2,235 people were drowned, the city of Johnstown, Pa., was thrown into a panic with reports that the Cuyahoga dam was weakening and threatened to lose a mountain of water on the town momentarily. ## APPROVAL IS GIVEN STATE R. R. RATES

I. C. C. Turns Down Plea of Companies Against 2-Cent Pullman Fares.

The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington yesterday approved the 2-cent-per-mile rate in Pullman for intrastate railroad passenger service in Georgia. The commission held that the evidence submitted by the railroads, in asking that the low rate be set aside was not sufficient to cause advantage, preference or prejudice.

Chairman Jud P. Wilhoit, of the Public Service Commission, which put the low rate in effect in Georgia nearly two years ago hailed the I. C. C. decision as a "great victory for the state of Georgia."

"We believe that the railroads are operating very satisfactorily with the 2-cent rate in effect," the state commission chairman said. "They have more trains running and more men are given employment."

The chairman said that the rate in Georgia is lower than in any other state in the Union.

"While we are very happy to know that the rate has been formally approved, it is just what we expected," Wilhoit said. "The I. C. C. recently showed that it was getting ready to follow the low-rate structure set by Georgia when it ordered a flat 3-cent-per-mile rate in effect on interstate travel all over the country. This is a reduction from the 3.61 cents fare which has been in effect. I expect that when this 3-cent rate goes into effect the railroads and the I. C. C. will be in a position to lower the rates and bring them down still further, probably to the low rate we have in effect in Georgia."

The decision of the I. C. C. was believed to be the first favorable verdict obtained by Georgia's present Public Service Commission. All other matters carried up by the carriers have been decided in favor of the state.

British, French Cabinets Vote Plan For Hague Ruling, Police in Rhine

Would Require Hitler To Accept Decision, Patrol Zone.

LONDON, March 19.—(P)—The British cabinet gave approval tonight to the text of the four-power agreement which would require Germany to accept a Hague court decision on its right to violate the Locarno treaty and would put international police in the German Rhineland.

The government will make a full statement concerning the plan in the house of commons tomorrow.

From Paris came news the French cabinet tonight approved the plan.

After a three and one-half hour session, the French cabinet issued a communique saying the agreement, meaning a two-sided demilitarized zone" during Rhineland negotiations.

The foreign office official commented sharply on the fact that no voice was raised today in support of the German thesis that the Franco-Russian treaty first broke the Locarno pact, thus creating extenuating circumstances for the German action.

"It is a sure sign of bad conscience," the spokesman said in his declaration that the League council discussion might provide another proof the two-power treaty could be the basis for intrigue behind the scenes against Germany.

This development, the major one of six days of negotiations and bickering among worried European powers, overshadowed a formal indictment of Germany.

RED CROSS HERE ASKS FOR FUNDS

Atlanta Requested To Aid Flood Victims;
$3,000,000 Is Required.

Urgent appeals for sufficient funds to care for 35,000 homeless families in 11 states was voiced yesterday by the League of Nations council in condemning Germany as a Locarno violator and declared the nation would "accept" nothing less than parity, meaning a two-sided demilitarized zone" during Rhineland negotiations.

The foreign office official commented sharply on the fact that no voice was raised today in support of the German thesis that the Franco-Russian treaty first broke the Locarno pact, thus creating extenuating circumstances for the German action.

"It is a sure sign of bad conscience," the spokesman said in his declaration that the League council discussion might provide another proof the two-power treaty could be the basis for intrigue behind the scenes against Germany.

The committee does not plan any direct personal solicitation of funds, but requests that donations be sent immediately to the local chapter headquarters at 291 Peachtree street.

Contributions to the Red Cross here will be immediately acknowledged in The Constitution.

In his telegram, Admiral Grayson stressed the fact that a minimum of $3,000,000 would have to be raised in order to provide for the homeless and needy. He stated that thousands are in dire need of shelter, food, clothing and medical care.

"We feel certain that Atlantans will step forward promptly and voluntarily to do their share in the relief of this suffering," said Chairman McDuffie, commenting on Admiral Grayson's urgent plea. "It is not our intention to personally solicit these funds; to do so would require a great organization of workers, and the urgency of the occasion leaves insufficient time for that. WHEELING, W. Va., March 19.
(P)—This flood beleaguered city tonight watched the raging Ohio river slowly recede from its destructive crest after taking a toll of 17 lives and causing great property damage.

Thousands marooned in office buildings and flooded homes hoped the end of the devastating inundation was near.

The river reached a peak of 55 feet —far above flood stage—at 8 o'clock tonight and an hour later dropped to 54.5.

Rescuers continued answering appeals to remove marooned families.
Six persons were saved by a police squad after their row boat overturned.

Relief headquarters in the courthouse was filled with bedraggled refugees, many of whom spent the night sleeping on the floor.

The flood crest moved rapidly toward the south. Rivermen expected cities on both the Ohio and West Virginia sides of the river to be flooded as it winds its turbulent way southward.

Below the hill tops, to which thousands fled for refuge from disaster, lay a spectacle of death, desolation and misery.

Police Lieutenant J. E. Stanley, after a survey of the sections hurriedly evacuated, reported 10 persons died trying to escape and four others were killed by an explosion in an inundated home.

Later, officers at near-by Wellsburg, famed West Virginia Gretna Green, reported three persons drowned there by a sudden surge of the waters that flooded parts of the town.

Water 15 Feet Deep.
Spreading devastation for miles in a score of communities on both the Ohio and Pennsylvania sides, the Ohio surged up Market street, Wheeling's main thoroughfare, and submerged it under 15 feet of water.

Business places were under water up to the first-floor ceilings. Hundreds were marooned in the structures.

Late today, the ever-spreading waters, carrying off the overflow of the big Pennsylvania floods, reached a stage of 54 feet, unprecedented in this territory. Flood stage is 36 feet.

Cobb Advises: Dub Him 'Puddle Duck'

By IRVIN S. COBB.

(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 19.—In a dentist's waiting room I found a recent number of a foreign periodical. Usually a dentist waits in a magazine is 18 months old before putting it in his waiting room.

His thumb tastes nice and fresh,
but his literature is stale.

Still, here was this periodical and in it a quotation from a speech by a European aviator dealing rather scornfully with the record of our own Lindbergh. The orator even questions the title of "Lone Eagle" for the colonel, whereas we over here thought it was kind of appropriate, what with one thing and another.

In a studio research department, where you can find out anything, I got some data on this critical gentleman. It seems he has had a lot to say, generally in a disparaging mood, about other aviators, but hasn't done so much in the air himself; in fact, quite the contrary.

So if I were choosing something emblematic of his achievements, I wouldn't fuss with eagles. I'd pick that bird which, of all winged creatures, is the best at gabbling and the poorest at flying—the puddle duck.

Roosevelt Delays Trip to South To Command Flood Fighting Forces

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(P)—With muddy waters lapping near the White House grounds, President Roosevelt today swiftly assumed the role of commander-in-chief of the federal forces fighting against the ravages of floods sweeping the east.

Within the space of an hour the chief executive postponed for at least 24 hours his southern fishing cruise; summoned a conference of his special flood aid committee; and appealed in an executive proclamation for $3,000,- 000 in flood-aid contributions to the American Red Cross.

Declaring that 200,000 people already had been driven from their homes in 11 states, he urged "our peonight the League committee of 13 to deal with the acceptance of the League's plan for peace talks by Italy and Ethiopia.

Reports circulated in League cir-

Great Britain to withdraw part of its fleet from the Mediterranean sea.

A report that Italy had offered to cease hostilities in Ethiopia if sanc-

London tonight by a high official of the League of Nations as "utterly un-

Nine of 'Jehovah's Witnesses' Held After Distributing Literature Here

Nine local members of a religious group known as "Jehovah's Witnesses" were arrested by a squad of policemen yesterday. The nine "witnesses" are a portion of the 82 who ran afoul of the law in Griffin last Sunday for distributing literature without a permit. Blankets charges of disorderly conduct were placed against the nine "witnesses." Bond was set at $100 and all but one of the nine remained in jail last night pending trial at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Arrest of the group came after residents of vicinity of Oakland and Woodward avenues had complained, according to police reports. Officers arriving on the scene said they found a sound truck from which was coming a transcribed reproduction of a radio address by Judge J. F. Rutherford, head of the "Jehovah's Witnesses." One of the members of the group is said to have approached Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and attempted to give him a piece of the literature.

City Attorney Jack Savage said yesterday that there is no city ordinance against distributing literature without a permit. The blanket charge of disorderly conduct placed against the group did not indicate what legal action will be taken against them. Those arrested and held in jail were listed as: Edward Sejnos, 33, of 337 Dargan place; Todd Salfas, 43, of 1372 May avenue; Richard Arrington, 35, of 337 Dargan place; Earl Withers, 49, of 407 Ashby street; Mrs. E. Fondville, 55, of 132 Claire drive; Mrs. Kate Arrington, 51, of 337 Dargan place; Mrs. Cora Fugh, 34, of 619 Myrtle street; and Mrs. Louise Haller, 45, of 157 Laurel avenue.

PHI BETA KAPPA GROUP NAMES DR. DAVIDSON

Election of Dr. Philip G. Davidson, head of the history department at Agnes Scott College, as president of the Georgia Beta chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, was announced yesterday.

Other officers elected were Professor Florence E. Smith, of the history department, vice president; Professor Muriel Harn, of the German department, secretary, and Professor Henry Robinson, of the mathematics department, treasurer. Dr. J. R. McCain, president of the college, was re-elected a member of the executive council.

Although she at first refused to be freed, Mrs. Alma Lovell, of 910 Cascade avenue, was released on $100 bond paid by her husband after Captain Ben W. Seabrook of the Bureau of Identification had threatened her with a second charge of disorderly conduct if she did not "get out of jail," police said.

Thirteen of 82 persons arrested in Griffin last Sunday were found guilty of distributing literature without a license and posted $15 collaterals, pending appeals.

DETROIT BANK OFFICIAL
HELD IN CITY SHORTAGE

U. S. Links Him With $340,000 of Missing Trust Funds.

DETROIT, March 19.—(AP)—James J. O'Shea, vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, was linked in a federal warrant tonight, as "criminally involved" with Harry M. Tyler, assistant city budget director in a $349,000 shortage of city trust funds. The formal charge against O'Shea is "misappropriation of money, funds and credits of the bank."

O'Shea was immediately fingerprinted and arraigned before United States Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd. He pleaded innocent. His bond was fixed at $40,000 and examination set for April 4.

O'Shea's arrest followed his surrender of $135,000 in cash, stocks and bonds taken from a safe deposit box which agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said "had been rented for O'Shea, but which was not held in his name."

O'Shea has been questioned by federal operatives since it was shown that, as vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, he approved checks by which Tyler obtained cash from city pension funds. Tyler shot and killed himself at his home a week ago while police were seeking him.

The Department of Justice said it was believed the $135,000 "represented the fruits of O'Shea's operations with Tyler."

John R. Watkins attorney for O'Shea, said the $135,000 "represents money from a stock market account that Tyler carried through a third party." He asserted O'Shea "is not implicated."

LEAP YEAR TEST

Mercer Students to Await Dates of Girls.

MACON, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Male students at Mercer University here have decided on a bold experiment to determine if this leap year business really means anything.

For a two weeks' period beginning March 23 the boys are to have dates only when the girls do the asking and the financing. Violations of the rule are to be reported in the student paper with punishment to be decided by the offenders' fellow males.

The boys are waiting hopefully despite marked skepticism among the co-eds.

NAVAL CONFERENCE GETS NEW TREATY

LONDON, March 19.—(AP)—The naval treaty drafting committee reported tonight that it had completed its work and submitted a complete draft of the pact to the international naval conference.

The conference will meet tomorrow for the first time in two weeks and authoritative quarters said the treaty itself would be signed by the United States, Great Britain and France March 24.

Garden Clubs Keenly Interested In Constitution's Spring School

Garden clubs of Atlanta this year are looking forward to the biggest and most successful season in their history, it was indicated yesterday during a discussion of The Constitution's spring garden school, which will be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The clubs have grown constantly in number, size and activity since the first one, the Peachtree Garden Club, was organized 12 years ago. There are now more than 50 garden clubs in the city, with an average of 35 members in each.

These garden club members are especially invited by The Constitution to attend the spring garden school classes, which will be conducted by Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, widely known horticulturalist of De-catur, from 10 to 11:30 o'clock each morning during the three-day school at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Mrs. Crown is familiar to every garden club member and flower enthusiast in and around Atlanta, as well as in other sections of the country, where she has studied and lectured. She was conductor of The Constitution's fall garden school last October and many club members and others gained a valuable store of help and information at that time from her wide experience and study.

As lecturer and demonstrator of the spring garden school, Mrs. Crown promises to divulge an even greater mass of modern and scientific garden hints in her entertaining classes.

With spring as the time for actual productive work and many Atlantans already feeling a touch of "spring fever" in the form of a desire to get out and work in the soil, interest in growing daily in the forthcoming garden school classes and garden club members particularly are looking forward to meeting again with the expert who will help them make their individual flower beds and their club gardens more beautiful this year than ever before.

Mrs. Robert L. Cooney, director of the Dogwood Festival, which will be held in Atlanta the week of April 19, was enthusiastic yesterday over the prospect of improved gardens in the city.

"The great Dogwood Festival will bring thousands of visitors to Atlanta," she said, "and we will want our home and club gardens to look their best for the visitors. The festival promises to be probably our most important annual civic affair, as far as advertising Atlanta is concerned, and we want the out-of-towners who visit our first dogwood celebration to receive the very best impression of our homes and our gardens."

"I am sure Atlanta flower enthusiasts welcome the spring garden school and the latest scientific methods of garden planning, culture and care of plants which will be described to them."

The Dogwood Festival will see practically every garden club in the city

MEN OF ACTION LIKE TO PERK UP WITH PERKWEAT

Delicious Breakfast Cereal AT ALL GOOD GROCERS

represented in the parade of beautiful floats, designed and constructed by the various clubs. This is the first time that such a large display has been undertaken by the city's garden clubs and nearly every organization of its kind in the city has made known its intention of participating.

The history of Atlanta's garden clubs during the past 12 years shows rapid growth and increased activity from year to year. Starting with the Peachtree Garden Club, the number of organizations has increased until, according to Mrs. Cooney, Atlanta now has more active garden clubs than any other city in the United States.

Each club has in its care some civic garden plot, either on city or private property, and the members devote their time to making their garden project a valuable civic asset.

In addition, the clubs maintain gardens and flower plots at schools and charitable institutions and award prizes to school children for home gardens and posters and essays on gardening.

So Atlanta garden club members are expected to form a large and highly interested portion of the audience at the spring garden school.

But whether you are a garden club member or enjoy the pleasures of your flowers and shrubs without any club affiliation, you will be more than repaid for the time spent in Mrs. Crown's entertaining lectures and demonstrations.

The Constitution again issues you a cordial invitation to its spring garden school, March 22-24, from 10 to 11:30 o'clock each morning at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Farmer Seeks $95 Lost by Wife 'Doped' and Swindled by Indians

By ED EVANS.
How two Indian "medicine women" worked the old "change" trick on his 65-year-old wife, Ida, at their home situated about six miles from Douglasville, and then slipped away with $95, the savings of a year, was described yesterday by J. W. Ergle, a farmer, who drove to Atlanta seeking retribution.

"Last Saturday when I awoke this black sedan, with the six-spoke wheels on the tires, parked on a hill-top about half a mile from my house, I said then 'something was up,' explained Ergle. "I went on to Douglasville anyhow and stayed about an hour."

"When I came home I went to the barn and commenced shucking corn for the livestock. 'Twasn't long 'fore Ida came in."

"I'd lived with her 41 years; she never looked like that."

"She said there wasn't nothing wrong, but I knew somebody had done taken every cent we had in the world. I told her half of it was hers since she was my wife, but at the same time as a husband I had a lawful right to know. She wouldn't tell nothing; she just sort of shook like she was scared and staggered like she'd been drinking."

"What's more she didn't tell me nothing 'til a good while later. Those Mexican Indian women, who I saw in the black sedan, and right off suspected, told her to don't tell me nothing. But here's what Ida told me since then."

"She said she was walking down the road in front of our house, when these Indian women calls her to the car and inquires about a nigger John. As one talks to her, she says, another squirts something at her out of a dope needle. After that stuff in the dope needle affects her, it ain't long 'fore they 'snares her to get in the car and drive to the house so they can tell her fortune."

"I wish they comes right in the house like they owns it. To prove confidence in Ida, she'll tell 'em tall her fortune, one gets a glass of water, pours powder in it, puts a handkerchief over the top and then turns the glass upside down. But don't no water run out. Then somebody gets what's in this glass into Ida and the rest is easy."

Ida Outwitted.
"They persuades her to get out the leather wallet in which I keep my money. One tinkers with it a while and then gives it back. At the same time she gives Ida a cloth with what she says is my money. She said the bills was wrapped in this cloth and she wanted Ida to put it in her bosom and tell me nothing except that she had the money right on her chest. She said if Ida told me all about what had happened the two of them would come back and there would be trouble."

"And they might do it, for I understand they are going all about this part of the country."

Ergle reached in his pocket and drew out a white cloth.

"See here," he said, "these pieces of newspaper they put in the cloth are the exact size of a dollar."

He had been saving his money for more than a year, he said.

As soon as he coated his wife into giving him the cloth, and he found he had been robbed, Ergle reported the case to the sheriff at Douglasville and also to the Fulton county police. Yesterday he described the "medicine women" as Mrs. Ergle since he pictured them.

One, he said, is about 5 feet 3 inches tall, between 25 and 30 years old, with long black, bushy hair. She was wearing a dark gray dress and pearl earrings. The other is about 42 years old and weighs about 140 pounds. She also has bushy, black hair. She was wearing a navy blue dress.

The farmer further described the women as being "slick talkers" and "quick workers." They told his wife, he said, that they were Mexican Indians and lived at Villa Rica.

He said he had come to Atlanta to talk with officials and he hoped through "the work of the papers and the police to catch the women."

GRAND JURY TO SIFT SCHOOL BOARD ROWS

Charges of Nepotism and Disension Which Lost Funds Will Be Aired.

A sweeping probe of board of education snarl, which seriously delayed prosecution of the $1,000,000 school improvement program, and an investigation of charges of nepotism in the city school system are expected to be initiated when the Fulton county grand jury convenes today, it was revealed yesterday.

Because of board disension, Atlanta schools are getting only a small portion of the $1,000,000 in school additions and repairs, it was pointed out by Ernest J. Brewer, former board president, and in a letter to R. A. Agnew, foreman of the grand jury. Brewer offered every co-operation and assistance in the projected move to place the blame.

Although no definite announcements of grand jury intentions was forthcoming, it was contemplated that the grand jury will make an exhaustive investigation of failure of the board to complete plans for school underlings in time for WPA to proceed to complete the work.

Brewer has consistently fought nepotism but his efforts thus far have been sidetracked. The latest move was to order a special board committee to investigate the practice in other city departments and in the county government.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS EXPERT TO SPEAK

Former High Commissioner Will Deliver Address at Jewish Temple.

James G. McDonald, former high commissioner of the League of Nations, will speak at 8:15 o'clock Monday night in the Jewish Temple, 1539 Peachtree road, it was announced last night.

McDonald, who served as League commissioner for two years until his resignation last December, will arrive here Monday morning. While in Atlanta he will be the guest of Harold Hirsch.

Closely associated with the problems of refugees in European countries, Mr. McDonald will speak on "Conditions in Europe," with special reference to this problem.

The public is invited.

DRUG TRIALS DELAYED BY CIVIL SUIT HEARINGS

A day full of civil suits in Judge C. B. Kennamer's division of the United States district court yesterday delayed until today the start on the trial of Dr. Thomas G. Cunningham, physician, and Mrs. L. DeLamater, pharmacist, both charged with failure to submit proper records to federal narcotic agents on drugs prescribed and sold.

Meanwhile the trial of Dr. Joseph S. Freeman continued before Judge E. Marvin Underwood. Dr. Freeman is being tried on charges of illegally issuing prescriptions for narcotic drugs. The case has consumed the first two weeks of the April term in Judge Underwood's court and threatens to last another week. The defense has just opened.

When Merita perfected its new Baked-in-Flavor Loaf, we wanted to find a name that would in a few words describe it. We called it "Baked-in-Flavor." Just how well those three words tell what Merita has accomplished is best found in the fact that today they are a part of the buying language of Southern women. Every day thousands of women ask grocers for Merita Baked-in-Flavor. Baked-in-Flavor means Merita almost as much so as the name Merita itself. The next time you buy bread, say "Merita Baked-in-Flavor," and you'll surely add a new delight to your meals.

TWO ARE BOUND OVER IN AUTO DEATH CASE

Man, Woman Held Under
$2,000 Bond on Involuntary Manslaughter Count.

Charged with involuntary manslaughter, Harold Beard, 23, of 1336 Lakewood avenue, and Mrs. Bertha Johnson, 25, of 299 Richardson street, were bound over to the grand jury under $2,000 bond yesterday afternoon by Recorder A. W. Callaway in connection with the death of a pedestrian here Wednesday night.

Beard and Mrs. Johnson were said by police to have been in the automobile which struck and killed Lonnie M. Jones, 40, of 376 Blue Ridge avenue, as he crossed the intersection of South Pryor street and Tennessee avenue. Which one of the two was driving the car at the time was not determined in recorder's court.

John Fitcher, of 1033 Williams Mill road, a companion of Jones, was slightly injured.

Police charged that the car which struck the two men as they crossed the street was traveling at an excessive rate of speed.

Both Beard and Mrs. Johnson declared that the accident was "unavoidable." They said that Jones and Fitcher stepped back into the path of their automobile to avoid another machine.

Jones was pronounced dead when he reached Grady hospital. Fitcher was treated for shock and bruises. A patrolman who saw the accident said Jones' body was dragged over a hundred yards by the force of the impact. The radiator and hood of the car were smashed by the collision, police said.

How to make good
Buckwheat Cakes

1. Mix milk or water with equal amounts of Aunt Jemima's Buckwheat. In a twinkling batter is ready.
2. Have griddle or skillet just hot enough. To test, put a drop of water on griddle. If it goes right up in a puff of steam, griddle is too hot. If it sizzles around a second before evaporating, griddle is hot enough.
3. Grease griddle very lightly. Don't pour grease on. Spread it thinly with pad.
4. Pour batter into griddle. Let each side bake until a golden brown.

Aunt Jemima's contains only about half as much gluten as ordinary flour. And gluten, you know, is the taffy-like substance in flour that resists heat and slows up the baking process. That's why, with about half the gluten of ordinary flour, Aunt Jemima's buckwheat cakes come out so perfectly done, so tender, fluffy and light in the few short minutes they are on the fire. A stack of three Aunt Jemima's buckwheat cakes, a square of butter and one ounce of syrup are only 391 calories. ## DAKOTA POLL AGAINST CURRENCY INFLATION Nationwide Sentiment on Controversial Topic To Be Shown on Sunday.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Some reflection of how much nationwide demand there is for passage of the Frasier-Lemke inflation bill will be available next Sunday, the American Institute of Public Opinion reported here today in announcing a nationwide poll on currency inflation.

Although complete figures are not yet available for publication, a tabulation of North Dakota sentiment in the forthcoming poll shows:

In favor of currency inflation, 23 per cent.

Opposed to currency inflation, 77 per cent.

(Both Senator Lynn Frasier and Representative William Lemke, sponsors of the inflation measure, are from North Dakota.)

The Frasier-Lemke bill, which proposes to refinance about $8,000,000,000 in farm mortgages through the issue of $3,000,000,000 of greenback currency, is one of the chief inflationary measures before congress today.

Administration leaders have opposed passage of the bill and have discouraged democratic members of the house from signing the petition to bring the bill to the floor from its pigeonhole in the rules committee.

It was the hot debate over this question, a fortnight ago, which elicited charges and counter-charges between the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Michigan radio priest, and Representative John J. O'Connor, democrat, of New York, chairman of the rules committee.

Coughlin charged O'Connor with "sitting on the bill" in the committee, and O'Connor replied by offering to kick the priest "from the capitol to the White House if he comes to Washington."

While the bill conducted by the Institute of Public Opinion does not specifically name the Frasier-Lemke bill, it is calculated to tap sentiment for currency inflation in general. Other groups, presumably in favor of new money, in addition to Frasier-Lemke backers, are the silver and bonus blocs.

Results of the Institute of Public Opinion's completed poll will be published exclusively in Atlanta next Sunday in The Constitution.

SEC SUBPOENA POWER UPHELD BY U. S. JUDGE

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—The power of the Securities and Exchange Commission to require appearance and testimony of witnesses "unconditionally" was sustained in an opinion today by Federal Judge Robert B. Patterson.

The opinion was in the case of Thomas Bracken, and others subpoenaed in an investigation of securities sales by Pernis, Simons & Company.

Dogwood Festival Carnival Ball Planned

Dogwood Carnival Ball Details Mapped by Junior League Officers

Preliminary plans for the Junior League dogwood carnival ball, which will be one of the highlights of Dogwood Week in Atlanta, were announced yesterday by Mrs. Henry Grady Jr., president of the Atlanta League. The affair will take place at the Piedmont Driving Club April 22, and more than 1,500 people from all parts of the south are expected to attend. The original Vincent Lopez orchestra will furnish music and entertainment for the event. In addition, a midway, eight side shows and other carnival features will be included in the evening's entertainment.

The gala holiday spirit will be reflected in the large main ballroom, foyer and small dining rooms of the club, which will be converted into a huge carnival, with sides flanked with the special attractions.

The ball will be open to the public. Tickets will be placed on sale early next week. The price for single admission will be $1.50 and for couples $3, the net proceeds devoted to Eggleston hospital for children and other charitable enterprises sponsored by the Atlanta League.

Mrs. Grady has announced that several major attractions are being arranged for the affair, announcement of which will be made as soon as completed.

Serving as general chairman of the ball will be Mrs. Everard Richardson. Mrs. DeSales Harrison has been named co-chairman. Other committee heads are Mrs. J. P. Garlington, decorations; Mrs. G. F. Willis Jr., tickets; Mrs. William Ogden and Mrs. Edwin McCarty, advance committee; Mrs. Francis Gilbert, prizes, and Mrs. Charles Tuller Jr., special attractions.

Committees in more than a dozen Georgia and southern cities have been named to work with the Atlanta sponsors.

ALABAMANS DEMAND PAVING OF HIGHWAY

Link Running From Columbus, Ga., Is Center of Discussions.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 19.—(AP)—More than 150 east Alabamians, principally from Russell and Randolph counties, demanded of the state Highway Commission today the paving of "some through highway in our section."

Among routes most strongly urged was that from Columbus, Ga., through Seale, Eufaula and on to Abbeville and Dothan.

The delegation hearing was presided over by Senator I. J. Dorsey, of Opelika. The meeting was sponsored by the Chattahoochee Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the delegation speakers proposed that a paved highway be built from Columbus to Opelika, contending this was one of the heaviest traveled routes in east Alabama.

Senator Will O. Walton, of Chambers county, quoted Governor Bibb Graves as saying he was "going to make a supreme effort to pave a highway to serve east Alabama."

The Highway Commission was represented by Commissioner H. B. Burnham, Chief Engineer H. H. Houk, and Secretary Fred McManus.

In addition to other routes, the delegation asked for paving of United States highway No. 80, from the Alabama line at Columbus, to Tuskegee, with all speakers demanding "something in the way of paving, whether or not you give us any particular road we have asked."

VENIZELLOS HONORED BY GREEK COMMUNITY

Resolutions of Regret on Death of Statesman Cabled Wife, Government.

Atlanta's Greek colony yesterday paid tribute to the late Eleutherios Venizelos, seven times premier of Greece and once its president.

In two cablegrams, one to the president of the Greek government and another to the wife of the renowned Greek statesman, George Moore, president of the local Greek community, lauded his services and expressed the hope that "God may raise to the nation men of his ability, strength and courage."

Known affectionately as the father of the Greek republic, Venizelos' influence was felt throughout the civilized world. He held every position of importance in the life of his government, but died in self-imposed exile because of his ill-fated move to prevent the return of King George to the throne.

Text of the message dispatched by Moore to the Greek government official follows:—

"Greek community wishes to express its heartfelt sympathy on the death of our great statesman, Eleutherios Venizelos. May God raise to the nation men of his ability, strength and courage."

(Signed) "George Moore, President of the Greek Community of Atlanta."

The following message was sent to Venizelos' wife at Paris, where the veteran leader died:—

"Mrs. Helen E. Venizelos, 'Paris, France. 'Greek community mourning on your beloved husband's death wish to express to you its heartfelt sympathy. We lost a great statesman, a great man, a real father of our country. (Signed) 'George Moore, President of the Greek Community of Atlanta."

'WOMAN IN RED' LOSES DEPORTATION APPEAL

CHICAGO, March 19.—(AP)—The deportation order against Mrs. Anna Sage, the "Woman in Red" of the Dillinger slaying, was upheld today by the United States circuit court of appeals.

The ruling affirmed the Immigration Bureau's decree that she be deported to Rumania as an undesirable alien, unless the supreme court grants a review of the case.

In her fight against the order, Mrs. Sage contended she had been promised immunity from deportation for her services.

Mrs. Sage had contended she alone was responsible for leading Dillinger into the trap set by the agents.

Baby Is Born in Street As Truck Hits Mother

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., March 19.—(AP)—A 15-ounce baby girl, born three months prematurely as its mother lay injured in the street after being hit by a truck, lost its brief fight for life tonight.

The tiny infant, cotton-swathed in a hospital incubator, died less than 24 hours after the mother, Mrs. May Womack, 39, was hurled to the pavement by a hit-and-run truck.

Oxygen was administered by hospital physicians in a futile attempt to keep the baby alive. It was fed every hour with water, its only nourishment, from a medicine eye-dropper.

RESERVE CHIEFS FORM MARKET COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—The open market committee of the Federal Reserve System was organized here tonight following a four-day conference of regional bank presidents with members of the board.

Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the board, was selected to head the committee, which determines the system's participation in the government bond market.

George Harrison, president of the Reserve Bank of New York, was chosen vice chairman, and Chester Morrill, secretary to the board, was named to the same post on the committee.

WOULD BE NUN MARRIES. NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP)—Natalie Carr, actress who ran away to become a nun in 1933 and returned home last November, and Walter Burke Coll, of Stamford, Conn., were married today. Pleas of her family brought her home last November, a week before her final vows were to have been taken.

BATTLE OVER CUSTODY OF 'SONNY BOY' OPENED

Woman Who Claims Him as Illegitimate Son Reveals Marriage.

CHICAGO, March 19.—(AP)—Miss Margaret Mann, resuming her court fight with Dr. Gilbert E. Mordoff for 3-year-old "Sonny Boy," whom she claims as her son born out of wedlock, revealed on the witness stand today she had been married Saturday in Valparaiso, Ind.

She collapsed a moment after she informed Judge Rudolph Desort that she had become the wife of Ray A. Fletcher, of suburban Wilmette.

The incident climaxed a day of testimony in the controversy over the parentage and custody of "Sonny Boy." When Miss Mann collapsed, the court recessed to tomorrow.

Miss Mann has steadfastly declined to identify the father of the child she says is hers. Her attorney, Edwin A. Robson, said after court Miss Mann's husband was not "Sonny Boy's" father.

Called to the stand by the attorney for the young woman, Police Sergeant John Schaefer, of suburban Wilmette, said he heard Mrs. Mordoff tell her husband on January 29, 1933: "The baby does not belong to you. It belongs to Margaret."

The sergeant explained he responded to a call for a police officer at the Mordoff home and found the physician and his wife engaged in a dispute.

Later Miss Mann arrived at the home, the sergeant said. He testified he asked the young woman: "Is that your baby?"

Her answer was "yes," he added.

WORK WINS OVER JAIL FOR 20 WPA STRIKERS

The alternative of either "going to work or going to jail" yesterday morning broke up a short-lived strike of a score of WPA workers employed in construction on the Atlanta-Bufford highway in DeKalb county.

The strikers had allegedly barricaded the road with trucks and were intimidating other workers when the construction foreman called Chief J. T. Dalley, of DeKalb county police, who went to the scene with several patrolmen.

The foreman said the cause of the strike was the dismissal Monday of three men whose work was unsatisfactory, resulting in a short period of overtime work for the others. Two patrolmen remained on the scene to prevent a recurrence of trouble.

WORK REFUSED STRIKERS. NEW YORK, March 19.—(UP)—

The Panama Pacific Line tonight refused to rehire its crew of about 250 men on the S. S. California, charging them with mutiny in the recent San Pedro strike which tied up the ship for three days. The company named Joseph Curran leader of the strike, and said that unless a "satisfactory" crew was signed by tomorrow noon, the ship would not sail Saturday.

ELECTRIC POWER COST IN STATE SAID AVERAGE

Power Commission Releases Data on Rates Based on 1935 Figures.

The average electric consumer in Georgia uses 732 kilowatt hours a year and pays a medium average cost for it, according to figures released yesterday by the Federal Power Commission.

Figures were based on 1935 consumption and rates.

On January 1, 1935, the average bill in Georgia for 25 kilowatt hours was $1.00, compared to a national high of $2.97 for the same amount of current in New Mexico and California's low of $1.40.

For 100 kilowatt hours, Georgians paid $4.20, while Floridians paid $6.80. It cost citizens of Washington only $3.96. For 250 kilowatt hours Georgians paid $7.18, while citizens of New Mexico paid $11.19 and those of Washington paid $6.98.

Private utilities in Georgia sold 85.3 per cent of the state's 205,267 consumers and received $2.7 per cent of the $20,732,119 revenue from electric sales.

On January 1, 1935, Atlantans paid $1.45 for 25 kilowatt hours of energy, $3.95 for 100 kilowatt hours and $6.57 for 250 kilowatt hours.

Highest rates were in force in Georgia cities having populations from 2,500 to 5,000, where the average bill for 25 kilowatt hours was $1.80; for 100 kilowatt hours, $4.41 and for 250 kilowatt hours, $7.70.

Raging Waters Shown Sweeping Pittsburgh's Theater Sector; Several Trapped and Injured as Flames and Flood Hit Homes and Factory

CLARK GABLE
JEAN HARLOW
MYRNA LOY

The heart of Pittsburgh's downtown theater and business district was flooded as the rising waters from three rivers—the Monongahela, the Allegheny and the Ohio—swirled over their banks. The theater shown in the left photo, the largest in the city, was flooded just as any other business establishment. The factory shown in the photo at right was destroyed by flames as firemen, hampered by flood waters, fought vainly to save it. Several persons were injured and several others at first feared dead when a terrific explosion ripped through the plant. When near-by houses caught fire, occupants were trapped by a six to ten-foot wall of water. The Pittsburgh flood waters were reported subsiding slowly Thursday.

ripped from their foundations and tumbled pell-mell downstream. Observers reported two of them carried two men gripping to the roof tops of the doomed buildings.

6,000 Are Rescued

Rescuers estimated at the emergency headquarters set up in the courthouse that approximately 6,000 persons had been taken from Wheeling and Wheeling island, which is a part of the city and situated about a half-mile from each shore.

From hill top vantage points it appeared the flood waters had completely covered homes in the lower part of the island.

The rescue teams, operated by police and volunteers, did heroic work. They carried babies, men and women from the second floors and made their way back to safety with great difficulty against a tremendous current.

More than 100 motor boats took part in the work.

100 Persons Rescued

One team, Colonel C. B. Hopkins, of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, and Frederick Libbey, both of Wheeling, was credited with making 100 rescues in their 20-foot power boat.

Baffling the tide on the island streets, the pair encountered waters so high they propelled their boat by pulling themselves along a trolley wire after the motor failed on one occasion.

Among the thousands rescued were about 20 children ill with measles, and four expectant mothers. One crippled woman was lifted bodily through a second-story window.

The rescue workers reported some of the victims had been in the water for several days. In saving their cats and canaries and other pets than in being saved themselves.

An accurate estimate of the homeless was impossible but some observers placed the figure as high as 20,000.

Although the river rose somewhat higher tonight some of the island dwellers clung to their homes. They moved from the first floor, then to the second and third, police estimated about one-third of the residents preferred to stay, but all those living on the fringe had been removed.

Names of most of the 17 dead could not be learned.

Reports 10 Drowned

Lieutenant Stanley, of the city police, said:

"Ten people drowned during the night, three of them were the creek in South Wheeling. Three more on the island and the others scattered around."

"One little girl fell off a porch into eight feet of water. Two men drowned when their boat upset." Details were unavailable.

Four others were killed by a gas explosion that blew their home into the air and sank it in deep water. Police attributed the blast to accumulation of gas in the basement.

The city of Wheeling lies between the Ohio river on one side and Little Wheeling creek on the other.

Waters from the creek, normally a small running stream, backed up flood waters seven miles and circled a part of the community. About 10,000 live in the area.

The army of homeless took refuge in churches, schools and other public buildings, all warm because the power and light plants remained secure despite the inundation. Gas service was gone, however. Some citizens showed a holiday spirit as the waters continued to rise.

Relief Headquarters

Relief and rescue headquarters were set up in the police station at the court house. Appeals went out for boats, food and clothing.

Officials said there was no actual food shortage, but there was inability to cook it.

Bread and other foodstuffs were being sent to the city from near-by Washington, Pa.

Transportation was demoralized, highways blocked and only one train operating—between Wheeling and suburban Elm Grove. The water rose to this evening to within 75 feet of the relief headquarters but was expected to reach its crest soon.

Scores of establishments were inundated and merchandise ruined.

The water rose to the first floor of the Windsor hotel on Market street. The Baltimore & Ohio station was flooded. J. E. Blackford, a member of the editorial staff of the Wheeling

Floods Threatening In These Sections

By the Associated Press.

OHIO VALLEY—Crest of worst flood since 1884 passes Wheeling, W. Va., due at Marietta by dawn.

VIRGINIA—James river rises to highest mark in decades; Richmond takes precautions. Potomac river crest at Washington.

NEW YORK—Rush of water expected to sweep down Finger lakes watershed Friday; central New York prepares.

NEW ENGLAND—Floods from Green and White mountains and Berkshires flow down to tidal sections in Connecticut and Rhode Island; Maine similarly affected.

News, said over the telephone the water covered the first floor. More than 100 workers, he said, were marooned on the second floor. The news was unable to publish.

Legionnaires Called

Office workers and others in many downtown buildings faced a similar predicament. Boat traffic moved freely, however, with scores of private skiffs being operated by their owners in addition to the 100 or so employed by police and volunteers.

The American Legion called 100 Legionnaires to help in the relief work.

Hospitals in wheelings are situated on high land and faced no danger.

Mayor Albert C. McEale surveyed the flood area most of the day.

The vast sea of inundation spread to Bellare, Martins Ferry, Bridgeport and Shyside, on the Ohio side of the river.

At Wellburg, in West Virginia, a 55-foot flood stage swept into the community, which is scarcely four blocks in width and lies along the bank of the Ohio.

Police Chief Arthur said over the telephone:

"We're in a terrible shape. We've got to get help. I'm trying to get in touch with the Red Cross. I have reports several persons drowned. I don't know how many, but I know for myself of three dead."

Girl on Roof Saved

Motorboat rescuers, in one instance, saved a girl who had been clinging to a rooftop.

Scores of persons clustered in the relief headquarters and gave police the names of relatives they feared were marooned. Rescuers were dispatched in boats to the addresses as quickly as possible. Some of the exhausted refugees went to sleep on the corridor floors there.

A light snow fell during the day.

Most of the inhabitants in lowland communities evacuated before the high waters came.

The steel plants and coal mines which employ around 15,000 workers were closed. Scarcely any other industrial plants operated. Schools were closed.

DEBRIS-LADEN OHIO WASHES PARKERSBURG

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 19.—The debris-laden Ohio river washed the streets of Parkersburg and Point Pleasant tonight on its southward rampage which already had taken 17 lives in West Virginia and killed here two years ago.

This city of 30,000 was well prepared for the onslaught of water which was predicted to rise to 48 feet tomorrow, which would flood the lower residential sections and part of the business district.

WILENTZ AND CONDON CONFER IN NEW YORK

Jasie after an hour's conversation he was asked if Condon had agreed to confer with the Governor.

"That's up to him to say," Wilentz answered.

The same question brought from Condon "no comment," his answer to all questions when his cruise ship returned last Tuesday.

Wilentz disclosed he had visited the Condon home twice before, "in the early stages of the case." He did not amplify the statement.

PROBER TO INVESTIGATE CONDON'S FLORIDA VISIT

MIAMI, Fla., March 19.—(P)—Robert W. Hicks, special investigator in the Lindbergh case, came to Miami today for the avowed purpose of learning about Dr. John F. Condon's visit here two years ago.

Hicks intended to interview Sam R. Garlick, now serving a life term in the Florida state prison at Raiford for complicity in the kidnapping here of Dr. Santiago Clare, Cuban editor. Dr. Condon—Jasie of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations—conferred with Garlick in the county jail here in December, 1933.

Governor Harold Hoffmann, of New Jersey, telegraphed Sheriff D. C. Coleman, of Miami, several weeks ago for verification of the Condon-Garlick interview, but the sheriff replied he did not know of what the two talked as no third person was present at the jail house meeting.

Hicks hinted he had additional angles in Florida which he will check during his stay in the state.

F. D. R. LEADS FORCES IN FIGHT ON FLOODS

House he numbered off four divisions in the flood fight.

Actual rescue work, he said, is under the charge of the army. Secondly, under the division of relief, he spoke of the imperative need for money for the Red Cross. Thirdly, he spoke of the CCC, asserting it had done extraordinary work in supplying information, performing actual rescue, and providing labor for patrol work and debris clearing pending the arrival of the militia.

Fourthly, he spoke of WPA. Now lending its forces wherever needed to the building of dikes and cleaning up, he said, the relief administration would supply men for restoring water supply, opening up flooded sewers, and putting power and telephone lines back into operation after the waters receded.

From WPA headquarters issued a report that $18,000,000 already had been allocated to flood work, with all state administrators ordered to use their forces at their own discretion.

In the senate, flood aid was advanced on three fronts. Senator Davis, republican, Pennsylvania, introduced a resolution to authorize the President to turn $5,000,000 of work relief funds over to the Red Cross for flood aid.

Hardly had he acted when Senator Guffey, democrat, Pennsylvania, as a tentative policy was suggested of eliminating from consideration all projects which have been undertaken with WPA funds without direct congressional authorization.

General Edward H. Markham, chief of engineers, sat with the committee during the afternoon.

The President left open the question of whether he will depart tomorrow for the south. He had planned originally to leave at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and to stop off at Warm Springs, Ga., before heading for the College at Winter Park, Fla., to receive an honorary degree prior to the start of his fishing trip off the coast of Florida.

The President will cancel his Warm Springs stop.

Scope of Conference

The international conference would consider all security proposals, together with limitation of armaments, economic questions and raw materials, in an attempt once and for all to repair weaknesses of the Versailles treaty and restore security to disordered Europe.

Any new peace treaty would be incorporated within the framework of the League covenant.

Family portraits of the German ancestors of Great Britain's royal family looked down upon the tense scene in Queen Anne's drawing room of the Palace of St. James as the diplomats officially affixed the stamp of guilt upon a second major European power within six months. The council indicted Italy for aggression against Ethiopia last fall.

The verdict came within three hours after Ribbentrop appeared before the council table—the first German appearance since he quit the League in 1933. Diplomatically, von Ribbentrop hammered home the League's reason for condemning her for violation of the covenant.

Argentina, Great Britain, Denmark, Italy, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Turkey and Russia voted for the resolution. Chile, abstained and Ecuador's representative was absent.

Immediately after the vote, von Ribbentrop arose and asserted in the name of his government that he had no objection to the resolution.

"This resolution will not be maintained in the judgment of history. If the honorable members had had time to consider my statement this morning, the vote would have been different."

Whereupon Flaminio, of France, jumped to his feet and immediately replied:

"I had not been prepared to speak, but since the German representative had spoken, I wish to say that, under international law, no nation can judge its own case. I reiterate the statement I have already made, that France is prepared, if Germany consents, to submit the dispute to the World Court."

Text of Resolution

The text of the Franco-Belgian resolution is:

"The League council, upon the request of Belgium and France, who brought the question to its attention March 8, declares the German government has committed an infringement of Article 43 of the Treaty of Versailles by causing military forces to penetrate and establish themselves in Italy for aggression against Ethiopia last fall."

Snow Storm Adds to Flood Misery As Refugees Return to Johnstown

Sickness Spreading Rapidly; 3 Born in Unheated Dance Pavilion Hospital; Martial Law Prevails While Relief Workers Clear Mud-Blanketed City of Debris.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 19.—(P)—Prostrated by the worst flood since the disaster of 1889, the city of Johnstown tonight was a scene of despair, hunger and suffering as relief workers started clearing away the wreckage.

As the bedraggled refugees struggled back to their flood-wrecked homes after a sleepless night in emergency shelters, army officials estimated the death toll at from 1 to 16.

The suffering city, still without normal lighting service and with heating systems crippled, was cheered by the arrival of a few truckloads of food, but hundreds had nothing to eat but dry bread. Sickness was spreading rapidly.

A snowstorm struck the city, accompanied by falling temperatures.

National guardsmen, state police and local officers patrolled muddy streets to prevent looting and vandalism. The city was under martial law.

The Conemaugh river, which poured 16 feet of water over a square mile of the city's business and residential area Tuesday night, was well back in its channel.

a showdown on his sincerity in offering to negotiate now.

Eden is said to have told von Ribbentrop there was no chance whatever of making progress unless Hitler agrees to the "mild" security measures demanded by France to cover the period until a new treaty is effected.

He emphasized how reasonable the French and Belgian positions were in view of "previous" demand for withdrawal of the German troops.

Germany also would be asked to submit the Franco-Soviet mutual defensive pact to the Hague court for a decision as to whether it violated the League covenant.

Von Ribbentrop had told the council today Germany was unwilling to take this step.

"The League council, upon the request of Belgium and France, who brought the question to its attention March 8, declares the German government has committed an infringement of Article 43 of the Treaty of Versailles by causing military forces to penetrate and establish themselves in Italy for aggression against Ethiopia last fall."

The verdict came within three hours after Ribbentrop appeared before the council table—the first German appearance since he quit the League in 1933. Diplomatically, von Ribbentrop hammered home the League's reason for condemning her for violation of the covenant.

opposition registered in the quiet drawing room as Stanley Bruce, of Australia, president of the council, called the roll of nations. This vote did not count, nor did those of France or Belgium, who brought the charge against the reich.

Argentina, Great Britain, Denmark, Italy, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Turkey and Russia voted for the resolution. Chile, abstained and Ecuador's representative was absent.

Immediately after the vote, von Ribbentrop arose and asserted in the name of his government that he had no objection to the resolution.

"This resolution will not be maintained in the judgment of history. If the honorable members had had time to consider my statement this morning, the vote would have been different."

Whereupon Flaminio, of France, jumped to his feet and immediately replied:

"I had not been prepared to speak, but since the German representative had spoken, I wish to say that, under international law, no nation can judge its own case. I reiterate the statement I have already made, that France is prepared, if Germany consents, to submit the dispute to the World Court."

F.D.R. URGES FARMERS TO CURTAIL ACREAGE

President Asks Study of New Program Before Planting of Crops.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today appealed to the nation's farmers to refrain from increasing their acreages of commercial cash crops and to co-operate with the administration's soil conservation program.

Asserting that if farmers failed to take advantage of the new program, the consequent excessive production of cash crops might result in the "wrecking of their prices and the mining of their soil," he added: "This is an appeal to all farmers to co-operate for their own and the nation's good to help in preventing excessive production."

Mr. Roosevelt took note of a crop report issued this week indicating that farmers were planning sharp increases in acreages of many crops. He urged the farmers not to complete their planting plans until they study the new program.

Meanwhile, A.A. officials said they expected to uncover details of the new program late tomorrow. Announcement was delayed pending passage of the independent offices appropriation bill, which contained an allotment of $440,000,000 for subsidy payments for soil conservation.

The bill went to the White House today and officials said they believed the President would sign the measure tomorrow.

Mr. Roosevelt called attention to the fact that "congress has gone as far as it could within judicial limitations to enable farmers to keep the gains they have made in the last three years and to permit their buying power to continue the powerful upward lift it has given to national recovery."

"I hope that farmers will not complete their plans for this year's crops until they have had opportunity to study the new act and that all those to whom it offers advantages may co-operate in the program now being launched."

The need for protecting both the soil and farm prices, the President said, is today "even greater than when the act was passed."

The March 1 intentions to plant report issued by the Agriculture Department this week said reports from 42,000 farmers indicated the following average increases for 1936:

Spring wheat, 19 per cent; corn, 6 per cent; rice, 11 per cent; tobacco, 9 per cent; and peanuts, 8 per cent.

Cotton Acreage Gain.

Mr. Roosevelt said private trade reports indicated an increase of 15 per cent in cotton acreage this year.

"In conformance with the supreme court's decision," the President said, "the farmers' production control programs have been stopped, but their chronic surplus problem goes on."

The cotton carry-over remains, he said, but although production control has gone, "farmers are not entirely

"Pat" and "Patricia" To Be Crowned Today

at the mercy of unbridled competition with their fellow producers, as they were in the years preceding 1933."

"The new farm act," he said, "provides for financial assistance by the government to those farmers who, heeding the warnings contained in the intentions-to-plant reports, wish to shift from the production of unneeded surplus to the production of needed soil-building crops."

President's Statement.

"Three weeks ago, when I signed the soil conservation and domestic allotment act, I said that this administration had not abandoned and would not abandon the goal of equality for agriculture. I pointed out that although the act is addressed primarily to the serious and long-neglected problem of soil conservation, the re-establishment and maintenance of farm income was also a major objective."

"Today, as a national soil conservation program is being launched in accordance with the act by the agricultural adjustment administration, the need for protecting not only the soil but also farm prices and income appears even greater than when the act was adopted."

"This fact has been made evident by the reports of farmers' intentions to plant compiled by the Department of Agriculture. These reports, announced a few days ago, showed that farmers were planning an increase of 19 per cent in their acreage of spring wheat, 6 per cent in their acreage of corn, 11 per cent in rice, 9 per cent in tobacco, and 8 per cent in peanuts. These reports are not completed for cotton, but unofficial reports circu-

City Traffic Deaths Gain One-Third Over Similar Period of Last Year

Atlanta Again Headed for Near-Top Ranking in Death Lists; 17 Have Died Here This Year, as Compared With 13 Last Year.

When Atlanta placed eighth from the top of the list last year in traffic fatalities, based on a percentage ratio of population of the 86 larger cities of the United States, Atlantans thought it a deplorable condition.

But merely thinking seems to have done little good. The driver's actions are what makes the difference between life and death. And Atlanta drivers this year appear to have set to work to make an even worse traffic record than was piled up last year, judging from a comparison of the number of fatalities suffered in accidents here already this year with the number recorded during the same period in 1935.

Here is the comparison, compiled yesterday by The Constitution Safety Council.

In 1935, through March 19, 13 persons had been killed in traffic accidents within the city limits of Atlanta. Remember, this was the year in which Atlanta made such a deplorable record of traffic deaths in comparison with other cities.

Increased Nearly Third.

This year, through yesterday, March 19, 17 persons have been victims of carelessness in city traffic crashes, increasing by 30.77 per cent the accident death rate of the past year.

If drivers continue their disregard for human life, their contempt for laws and the basic principles of plain courtesy, the horrible hand of death this year will snuff out the lives of more than 84 persons in the city.

That is not a guess. It is based upon the appalling number of deaths already recorded in this year.

With 17 persons killed during the first 78 days of this year, a continuation of the fatality rate will mean more than 84 victims by the end of the year. And the 74 deaths of last year, thought by many observers to

U. S. PROBES TERMED 'POLE CAT' COMMITTEE

Arnold Defies Leaders in Investigation of Fund Solicitation.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—J. A. Arnold, who says he made the nation's "pole cat" committee, told the senate today that hard times had descended upon the business of soliciting funds for promoting a public liking for low taxes.

Andrew W. Mellon helped his organization—the American Taxpayers' League—to the extent of $1,000, and two or three du Ponts chipped in $10 apiece, but Arnold said he couldn't "get a rise" out of J. P. Morgan. Revenues have slumped from $200,000 a year to $45,000.

The witness said his work did not involve lobbying. Use of that word, he insisted, in moulding public sentiment. He called the group a "pole cat committee," when Senator Schwenbach, democrat, Washington, suggested that he had a "sucker list."

He said the committee was organized for the purpose of soliciting funds for promoting a public liking for low taxes.

The Western Union Company, in an answer filed today to the first hearing suit, said the committee had "recalled, revoked and cancelled" the subpoena involved, and that therefore it had no intention to produce the telegram originally requested.

Representative McSwain, democrat, South Carolina, yesterday read a copy of a telegram given him by the committee. In it, Hearst suggested a series of editorial calling for McSwain's impeachment to his chief Washington editorial writer, James T. Williams Jr.

Hearst papers today published an answer to the telegram from Williams, saying of the first:

"When accurate or not, it contains some remarks about McSwain which a great many patriotic citizens will be disposed to ignore."

Committee members expressed belief that wealthy people and others who contributed to Arnold's organization got little or nothing in return for their money, while he stuck to a reiterated assertion that the "greatest suckers of all" were those who contributed to the democratic party.

FLORIDA POLICE BRAND 'CRUCIFIXION' AS FAKE

'Victim' Reported to Have Discussed Action Previously.

OCALA, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—George Timmerman, bitter because nobody believed his story of being nailed to a wooden cross by a band of men and told to "Keep my trap shut," left a hospital here today after 30 hours of treatment and went home with relatives to St. Augustine.

His parting shot at officers who branded his tale of horror as a "fake" perpetrated for notoriety, was "I've told them the truth and if they don't believe it, they can go hang."

Officers did not seek to prevent his departure because Sheriff S. C. M. Thomas said, "I don't know anything I could charge him with."

Added to other evidence which they said disproved Timmerman's story, officers announced J. O. Billings, employed on the cross-Florida canal, reported Timmerman discussed plans for a "crucifixion" with him last spring when both men were working on a relief project near St. Augustine. Timmerman was employed for awhile on the canal job here.

"He said he could make lots of money out of it," Billings said. "He said he had a treatment for his hands if somebody drove nails through them. He said he could stand it, and then he talked about how we could report we found him nailed to the cross while we were on the way to work."

James M. White, neighbor and friend, "found" Timmerman in a woodshed near his home yesterday as he was on his way to work on the canal project. White was placed in jail and held for investigation, but no formal charge was lodged against him.

Wasn't a Scratch.

Against Timmerman's story that a band of men set upon him, sewed his lips together with twine and nailed him to the cross despite his physical resistance, Sheriff Thomas said "there wasn't a scratch anywhere on Timmerman, and there wasn't even a button missing from his clothing."

Sheriff Thomas said he learned Timmerman recently bought nails from a hardware store here of the same type and size as those which pinned him to the cross. Similar nails were found in Timmerman's car.

"I'm convinced it's all a fake," said Sheriff Thomas. "Of course, we'll continue to investigate the case, but there appears nothing that can be accomplished."

Short circuit in the wiring system was given by firemen as the cause of a fire which burned the roof off the home of J. C. Dorsey, at 1834 Lakewood avenue, at about 6:30 o'clock last night.

Collection of rare old coins and $7.50 in cash were taken from the apartment of J. E. Thomas, at 275 Fourteenth street, by thieves who entered through a rear screen door, he reported to police. The intruders ransacked the apartment, police said.

Forced into a darkened alley on Fair street near Capitol avenue and slugged by a negro, J. H. Miller, of 103 Fair street, was robbed of 85 cents last night, police records showed.

Knocked down by an unarmed negro who forced him into an alley on Woodward avenue near Fraser street, M. W. Kayto, of 487 Grant street, was robbed of $5 last night, police records showed. Kayto reported to officers that he lost his glasses in a scuffle with his assailant, but later recovered them.

The tonnage passing through the Detroit river, which connects Lake Erie and Lake St. Clair, exceeds in volume that passing through any other river in the world. Yet the Detroit river is closed to navigation during the winter and part of the spring.

WEAR FOR THE IDES OF MARCH

That Heavy Feeling You're Noticing Is

Your Winter Overcoat

Highly improbable, we know, but if the Roman winter of 45-44 B. C. was as tough as some of ours in the North American snow-belt, we can discern an underlying cause for the boys ganging up on Julius that the historians failed to record. They were just fed up with it all by the time the Ides of March arrived, taking it out on poor Julius, who was getting a bit too upstage to be bearable. Excluding those fortunate dwellers in the southern sectors, where winter has already been packed into the cedar chest or where it never has made its appearance, the sooner we get into topcoats and clothing with a touch of spring about them, the better we're going to feel, depending on the weather, of course. That heavy feeling that comes over you, as winter nears its close, may be nothing more than your winter overcoat, wearing you down. Old Doc Fashion recommends a change to a smart and practical topcoat, which will immediately relieve some of the burdens of winter. We don't want to pass up the opportunity of calling your attention to the cable-striped, double-breasted suit on the gentleman with the derby hat. Stripes are "tops" for spring, and white cable-stripes on black, blue or gray flannel, lead the field. And notice the model, with its long rolling lapel and plenty of ease below the arm scyes. At the right, the topcoat shown is a double-breasted covert cloth, and the Glen Urquhart pattern in the suit is second only to stripes in fashion importance.

1. Early spring smartness in town calls for continued wearing of either the derby or the black homburg.

2. These simple design town shoes will take a load off your feet and your mind. They'll be pleasant to wear and you may be assured that they're correctly smart.

3. This thick and thin stripe shirt is made with the new, always neat-looking, slotted collar. The tie is a typical Maclesfield pattern in woven silk.

4. The smartness of deeper shades in shirtings is enhanced by the use of a white collar. The tie is a Glen plaid woven silk.

5. You may not go in for walking sticks, but you'll certainly need a smart pair of gloves. These are of chambray, with the button and button-hole at the wrist.

6. Most important in the way of new fashion, although a detail, is the sporting figure scarf pin. The one we've shown is a running fox. The handkerchief is of linen with a colorful woven border.

TALMADGE ACCUSATION 'TOO ABSURD'—RIVERS

Speaker of House Refuses to 'Dignify' Statement With Formal Reply.

The Governor's charge that he sponsored an attempt two years ago to seize the office of chief executive during Governor Talmadge's absence from the state is "too absurd" to warrant a reply, Speaker E. D. Rivers, of the house of representatives, said here yesterday.

The Governor's charge that I sought to take his office by physical force while he was "honorably" in Kentucky is too absurd to dignify with a formal reply," the speaker declared. "Of course it is not true. He is the only one I know who is taking office by physical force. The Governor is just trying to divert attention from his own misconduct. I am not going to get into any argument to help him do it."

Rawlins Issues Statement. Senator Preston Rawlins, who lives at the Governor's home city of McRae, yesterday issued a statement in which he said he did not believe that there is necessity for a special session of the general assembly. The senator said that he would not join with the majority of the senate in requesting the session, a request which was refused by the Governor.

The Rawlins statement follows: Editor Constitution: As I see it, no condition exists now that did not exist when the general assembly was in session. We had no general appropriation bill then for the 1936-37 session, and I am not sure that we have any now. The house also removed its bill, as applied to the largest items in it, the usual clause that if the revenues were less than anticipated, the appropriation should be reduced in proportion, the purpose of this clause being to prevent the creation of debts against the state. The house insisted on its position of increasing the appropriations beyond the revenue, thereby creating debts against the state. The senate insisted on abiding by the law and staying within the revenue. These

Baxter in Fine Drama

On Loew's Grand Screen

A tragic, almost forgotten figure in American history is given new life and his story takes on added interest in "The Prisoner of Shark Island," which comes today to Loew's Grand theater, with Warner Baxter in the title role, and a supporting cast which includes Gloria Stuart, Arthur Byron, O. P. Heggie, Harry Carey and many others.

"The Prisoner of Shark Island" is the story of a physician who aroused a nation's animosity and was sent, in revenge, to life imprisonment in a now abandoned convict camp on Shark Island in the Gulf of Mexico. The film opens with Lee's surrender at Appomattox. In Washington, Booth assassinated Lincoln. In his leap to the stage, Booth falls, breaking a leg, but in the attendant excitement he escapes.

With a fellow conspirator, Booth goes to the home of Dr. Mudd, and the surgeon, without question, sets the injured leg. Soon after the patient leaves, soldiers come to the house, learn that Booth has been aided, and Dr. Mudd is arrested for complicity with the crime. The nation is in arms, and demands vengeance. Dr. Mudd is sentenced to life imprisonment on Shark Island.

The story of Dr. Mudd's wife and her devotion, portrayed by Gloria Stuart, and of his heroism in saving the lives of his fellow prisoners when a yellow fever epidemic breaks out, brings "The Prisoner of Shark Island" to a vigorous climax.

Trail of Lonesome Pine Opens at Fox in Color

Sylvia Sidney, Fred MacMurray and Henry Fonda are co-stars in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," first natural-color picture of the outdoors, which opens today at the Fox theater.

Planned almost entirely against a background of lake and forest, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" represents an entirely new approach in the use of color on the screen. Using the new three-color Technicolor process, which gives full value to the entire spectrum, Walter Wanger, the producer, and Henry Hathaway, the director, nevertheless concentrated on the unfolding of their plot.

The story is of warring Cumberland mountain clans. Isolated from the world, and loyal to only their own code, they shoot each other on sight.

Both Miss Sidney and Fonda are members of one clan and the general assumption is that some day they will be married. MacMurray, a young engineer, arrives on the scene to build a railway through the hills. With him he brings the first taste of outside civilization and standards that the mountaineers have never known.

Miss Sidney is immediately entranced by the stranger. Fonda soon discovers Miss Sidney's love—and knowing one code, sets out to "get" MacMurray. Simultaneously, the rival clan sets out to "get" Fonda.

The thrilling battle that occurs when all three elements get together brings the film to a highly dramatic climax.

Carole Lombard Scores In Comedy at Paramount

"Love Before Breakfast," a comedy hit starring Carole Lombard and Preston Foster, comes to the Paramount theater today for a week's run. This screen offering is delightfully humorous, gay and modern.

Carole Lombard wears "last-word" fashions and delivers a polished performance. The situations are realistically funny, giving added effect to the dialogue.

"Love Before Breakfast" is a meal ticket punched full of laughs. There is a horseback riding scene which will make the men in the audience gloat, when they perceive a self-opinionated girl compelled to take a back seat, literally. The ocean sequences are irresistible, with many laughs. The battle in the night club is a howl for those who like their comedy "with a sock" in it.

Preston Foster portrays one of Carole's sweethearts and Cesar Romero is the other. See the film and laugh your troubles away.

The theater also presents the latest issue of the March of Time.

Gary Cooper, Marlene Come to Georgia Screen

"Desire," the Paramount romantic comedy which is being held over at the Georgia theater, brings together that ideal team of screen lovers, Marlene Dietrich and Gary Cooper, in their first costarring picture since "Morocco."

"Desire" reveals a new Marlene Dietrich, glamorous in a different way from her past creations, and a Gary Cooper who turned in as fine a performance as he has ever given.

Those who see these stars in "Desire" must agree with Director Frank Borzage, who places them at the head of a list of famous screen lovers of all time.

Miss Dietrich, as a continental beauty, is used by a gang of master crooks to purloin a costly string of pearls, and accomplishes the job with finesse. She asks a leading Parisian jeweler to deliver the pearls to her so-called husband, a famous psychiatrist. She then calls on the psychiatrist to ask him to examine the jeweler, whom she represents as her mentally deranged spouse. In the ensuing comedy of errors, she makes off with the jewels.

In her flight, she meets an American, played by Gary Cooper. Perfect foils, they skirmish in a lively give-and-take comedy which moves into romance by easy stages.

The program is completed with a carefully selected group of short subjects.

Film Drama at Rialto Stars George Bancroft

George Bancroft, Ann Southern and Victor Jory head the cast of "Hell-Ship Morgan," an amazing story of the sea that comes to the Rialto theater tomorrow for a week's stay.

Made by Columbia with all the realistic art which this company has made its own, the picture contains not only a brilliant and enthralling love story, but scenes of stirring adventure, danger and two-listed daring.

D. Ross Lederman directed the picture, from a story and screen play by Harold Shumate. Bancroft, in the title role, is captain of a tuna fishing ship, and his driving tactics have given him the waterfront name of "Hell-Ship Morgan." He befriends a penniless and hungry sailor and, later, his really big heart again responds to the appeal of a girl, homeless, hungry and desperate.

Grateful, the girl marries Morgan, but soon finds that the man she loves is the sailor, Jim. The struggle between their love and their gratitude forms a gripping background to the remainder of the story.

It is a well-made picture and one that should be missed by no discriminating seeker of screen entertainment.

Carefully selected short subjects complete the program.

MEMPHIS FACES LOAN SHARK PROBE

Interest Rates as High as 600 Per Cent Charged Against Operators.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 19.—(AP)—The Commercial Appeal said in an article tonight that an exhaustive survey revealed "loan sharks" in Memphis are charging thousands of small borrowers "interest rates as high as 600 per cent."

District Attorney-General W. T. McLain, the story said, has promised to study the situation with a view to possible legal action.

Among others, the paper listed as "typical cases" these examples:

"A negro school teacher who owes more than $500 to eight loan companies, pays nearly a fourth of her salary of $90 a month as interest without touching the principal."

"A negro borrower earning $12.35 weekly has paid $20.50 interest on a $10 loan made last August or at the rate of 624 per cent a year. He sees no chance of paying off the principal of his loan and plans to continue paying $2.00 a month interest."

The paper said the "loan sharks" are "not subject to the state small loan act" as they are not licensed as lenders.

SPECIAL SQUAD By Courtney Ryley Cooper

INSTALLMENT XVII.

"An exhibit in the case of Ray Hammer," he explained. Then: "His real name is Bronson. We are bringing his sister here as our guest. She is neither under charges or suspicion. Please take care of her financially up to a hundred dollars and bill the F. B. I. for it at Washington."

They parted in the lobby. At the sidewalk, however, Sandy halted. Buck Wasey was approaching in the cream-colored car with Jane Bronson, as yet several blocks away. Then Janners came running across the street.

"Thought I'd hurry and tell you," he panted. "That girl—the one who got the suspect's baggage from the hotel here, bought a ticket for San Francisco."

"What about that telegram?" "Mason is waiting to get the dope on that."

"Tell him to bring it to me at the telephone office. Meantime, he headed Janners the package he had brought from room 20. Rush this into the crime laboratory at headquarters."

Janners took the package and hurried away as Buck Wasey pulled to the curb with Jane Bronson. Sandy Ross extended a hand to assist her to the sidewalk. For only an instant he was an inspector of the bureau of investigation as he snapped to Buck Wasey:

"Impound this car with the sheriff. Have him hold it as evidence." Then, with Buck's assenting nod, Sandy turned to the girl, a friendly, almost gentle manner taking the place of his former crispness. "I've got to run along now, Jane. But I do want to say—well, not exactly good-bye—"

"No—I suppose I'll see you in court."

He still held her hand. "I'm taking your word—for everything." The girl straightened. "I wish you'd take me."

"Take you? Are you afraid?" "There was a long moment of hesitation. "Yes—of myself. I—I can't promise to be a spy, Sandy."

"Have I asked you?" "No."

"Has Buck?" "Too busy talking about Texas," answered the assistant.

"It's just my own conscience," Jane Bronson answered quietly. "I know that the right thing to do would be to call you the minute I heard from Lee. But—" she smiled—"sometimes a person isn't strong enough to do the things she knows she should do."

"Suppose we leave you without any promises," Sandy answered. Then, with a grin, "Don't worry—I'm not going soft on my job. In the meantime, your bill's taken care of at this hotel—and if you want money to get home, they've got that, too. Then before she could thank him, he gripped her small hand tight in his. "So long, Jane. Good luck to you."

"So long, Sandy." There was a break in her voice.

Sandy turned to the girl. "When did you look in that box, Jane?" he asked.

"Here at the camp. He expected an answer to his telegram either at Glenwood Springs or here. So when we got to Glenwood he sent me to the office, asking if there was anything for Marge Brown."

"Marge Brown?" "That was the name." The information came to him at the moment he was about to leave. "I asked him why he was having wires sent to him in that fashion. We quarreled again. There was nothing at Glenwood. We came on to Gunnison, drove out and stayed overnight. The next morning he sent me in with the car and this tin: a telegram waited for him—at least for Marge Brown. He seemed terribly excited when he read it—and—and—" she hesitated, staring blankly at the men before her. "I don't know why I should tell you all this—"

"Go on, Jane," Sandy urged.

"He seemed to get so wild looking at it—around the cabin, mumbling to himself. I sensed that something terrible was about to happen—and we began to quarrel again. I accused him."

"Of what?" asked Buck.

"Of just everything," came hopefully. "I told him he'd lied to me there in Vinton City and that he'd just used me as a blind to get him out of town—"

"Which he had," agreed Sandy, grimly.

"And I told him he hadn't been honest about that money he had and about being mixed up with a gang. She leaned forward, her palms pressed hard against her knees.

"He had been sitting in the kitchen by the stove—it was a chilly day. All of a sudden he jumped to his feet and said 'All right.' Just like that. 'I'm mixed up with gangs, am I?' he said. 'Well, suppose I am? What are you going to do about it? And how would you like some of that gold ore you've been asking me about ever since we left Vinton City?' He cried, 'There was a glare in his eyes. Then he rose and the other room and dragged that long box out from under the bed and unlocked it. He reached inside and pulled out something—I thought it was the barrel of a shotgun at first. Then I saw cartridge drums and an ugly looking muzzle like—like those guns over there. I guess I was tired—"

"And my nerves were pretty ragged—I saw the cabin swimming around me and his face everywhere. I looked—and then I—"

"She paused, staring blankly. "And then?" asked Sandy quietly.

"She said, 'What happened then?'" "Nothing happened. I don't know how long I was there on the floor. He was gone when I got my senses back. Mrs. Martin said her husband was just starting to town when Lee ran out with his bag and that case and asked if he could go along. That's all I know."

"Better go out and see how that creek is—if we can cross it."

Jane Bronson did not realize the implication of the order until the Texan was out of the house and wading the remaining flow of Bobcat Gulch, testing its bed for solidity. Quickly she rose and faced the inspector, also on his feet.

"You're taking me into town?" "We're all got to go, Jane."

"Then you're going after Lee?" He was silent.

"You're going after Lee?" she demanded.

"Yes," the special agent answered. For an instant the girl weaved as though about to fall, only to force strength into her weakened legs.

"It's because of what I've told you," she said. "Isn't it? You're going to get him because I've told you this?"

"We're going to get him," the inspector answered noncommittally. The girl turned away, her hand again weaving. Her lips had begun their trembling anew, a distrustful expression had taken possession of her eyes.

"What will Mom think of me?" came faintly, as though she had asked the question of herself. Suddenly she whirled, facing the special agent. There was rebellion in her eyes, a return of the old lack of control. "You made me tell what I'd sworn I'd never tell," she cried. "Mom begged me to watch after him—to keep him out of trouble. She seemed to know that he'd get into it some way or another. It was the thing she asked me to keep him out of trouble—that he wasn't like me—that he couldn't face things like I could—and I promised her. But you made me tell you—made me point the way to my own flesh and blood. And I hate you for it—do you hear me?" she asked, her voice high in hysteria. "I hate you for it—do you hear me?"

"Stop talking like that!" Sandy Ross had caught her by the arms, gripping them hard in his strong hands. "You've got to forget that this selfish little fool ever belonged to you!"

By John Harvey Farley, Ph.D.

WOMEN ARE NOT NATURALLY MORE "MOTHERLY" THAN MEN

Margaret Mead, of the American Museum of Natural History, after two years of study among various primitive peoples of the world, particularly New Guinea, says that the "mother instinct" is not something that is born in people, but is trained into them by society. She found tribes where the men had the mother instinct and did all the mothering, while the women acted as head of the family and dominated. In other tribes both the men and women had the mother instinct. She concludes that "motherliness" is purely a social trait produced by society and not "inborn." Either men or women develop it, according to the social custom.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Mongolia and the Mongolians.

Mongolia is a land of vast size, half as large as the United States, but least figured as a population of only about 3,500,000. A great deal of it is covered by the Gobi desert, which is not fit for use as a living place.

Other parts contain mountains and forests. There are valleys with rich soil for crops, and plains which make fine grazing lands.

It is interesting to observe the ways of travel across the Gobi desert, say from Kalgan to Urga. The distance between those cities is about 700 miles. Ox-carts and pony carts take two or three months for such a journey. Camels make the trip in from four to six weeks, each carrying a load of about 400 pounds.

During the past 20 years, automobiles and airplanes have been put to some use in crossing the desert. What a thing the airplane is for a Mongol to think about. Now a man can have lunch in Kalgan, board a plane and reach Urga in time for dinner.

At one time Mongolia was under rule of China, but in recent times it has freed itself in large part. Much of the land is now under a government formed in 1934 and known as Inner Mongolia.

Another portion, more than one-third, is called Outer Mongolia, and has a government like that of Russia, sometimes being classed as a "soviet republic." The capital is Urga, also known as "Ulan-Bator-Hoto." It has a population of 60,000.

Japanese soldiers in Asia have taken part in "border clashes" at the edge of Outer Mongolia. It has been feared that these might lead to the outbreak of war in that area. It is supposed that Russia would join Outer Mongolia in fighting Japan.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of sufferers from itching, bleeding or protruding piles have learned that quick and lasting relief can be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor cutting remove the cause.

Bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts lifeless. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonard was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for hundreds of patients with a marvelous record of success and he has decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID tablets from their own drugstore with a rigid money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Jacobs Drug Store says "No matter what kind of Piles you have, one bottle of HEM-ROID tablets must show you the safe clean way to get rid of your Pile misery or money back."—(adv.)

MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR GIVEN ROAD CONTROL

South Carolina and Alabama Legislatures Debate on Tax Measures.

By the Associated Press.

The Mississippi legislature vested Governor Hugh White Thursday with control of the state's $40,000,000 road construction program by voting him authority to name the state highway commission.

Under the terms of the measure approved, Governor White will appoint three highway commissioners at the expiration of the terms of the present elective commissioners in January, 1936.

South Carolina's general assembly continued its consideration of that state's efforts toward reorganization of its highway department. A free conference committee is considering a redraft of a bill for reorganization. The committee was regarded as favoring immediate installation of a new highway commission.

The South Carolina senate finance committee favorably reported a house bill to reduce auto tag fees from $5 to $4 to a scale of $1 to $7.

Alabama's house of representatives, still without a concrete revenue program, voted for a conference of majority and minority leaders in a move to reach accord on a tax measure which can be passed.

The house, sitting as a committee of the whole, debated more than two hours on a proposed gross receipts tax of 1 per cent before killing it, 41 to 38.

SHERIFF GIVEN WHISKY, WITNESS TELLS COURT

Thomasville Man Says He Also Made Gifts to Police Chief.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Testimony that Gordon Davis, Thomas county sheriff and "the chief of police of Thomasville" were given whisky through friendship and for protection against prosecution was placed before jurors in United States district court here today in the trial of the sheriff on charges of conspiracy to violate the internal revenue laws.

The evidence was given in cross examination of Roy Smith, of Thomasville, who had been summoned as a defense witness for the sheriff.

Smith, on direct testimony, denied he had ever paid any money to the sheriff for protection, but on cross examination he said he had given Davis "bottles of whisky at various times through friendship." He charged, however, that he had given the Thomasville police chief whisky for protection and said the city council of Thomasville "has double crossed me by raising my place of business."

The witness said he sold "bonded" liquor in Thomasville under a federal license.

His testimony caused considerable interest in the courtroom.

During the morning, a number of other witnesses for the defense charged W. E. Thornton, former deputy for Davis, had offered protection to illicit liquor dealers and two defense witnesses said they would not believe Mitchell Sampson, a government witness who gave testimony early in the case, on oath.

U. S. LABOR HEARING
OPENS IN NEW ORLEANS

George Googe Refuses To Testify Until 'Spy's' Record Is Revealed.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—(AP)—A hearing of complaints of unfair labor practices against the Bradley Lumber Company, of Warren, Ark., ordered by the National Labor Relations Board, got under way here today amid a series of startling developments.

Shortly after Trial Examiner Walter Wilbur, of Washington, opened the hearing, he was informed by R. H. Kelly, of Houston, Texas, attorney for the lumber company, that none of the lumber officials would participate in the proceedings in view of an injunction early in the week by an Arkansas chancery judge halting a similar hearing.

After declaring the company's position, Kelly and officials of the Bradley company filed from the hearing room.

Then followed a charge by a board witness that a "labor spy" was present at the hearing taking full notes of the proceedings. The witness, George L. Googe, southern representative of the American Federation of Labor, informed the examiner that he would not testify until the alleged "labor spy" record was disclosed.

Examiner Wilbur ruled that no one was prevented from taking notes of the hearing, but informed the witness that only the transcript of the board's official reporter would be used as the record. Googe then consented to testify.

Next came charges that employees of the company were required to surrender membership in a mill workers' union before they could obtain work at the plant.

Undisturbed by the company's refusal to participate in the hearing, Colonel Robert B. Watts, general counsel of the Labor Relations Board, proceeded to present his case.

The hearing was ordered by the board upon petition of a group of employees of the lumber company who charged they were being discriminated against on the basis of their union activities and further that the company had violated provisions of the federal labor act.

CORNELIA PWA GRANT IS REDUCED BY ICKES

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes announced today reduction of a public works loan and grant to Cornelia, Ga., for a new water system from $102,000 to $80,000.

Ickes said the cost of the project had been reduced through revision of plans eliminating proposed distribution facilities in the adjoining town of Demorest.

Mrs. Graham was hurt in a fall in a department store here some weeks ago. She is the mother of Judge Eschel Graham, of Telfair superior court, and Mrs. Eva Graham Drew, one of Governor Talmadge's secretaries.

Executive Committees in 2
Counties Seek State Primary.

ATHENS, Ga., March 19.—The Clarke county democratic executive committee today unanimously adopted a resolution urging the state committee to call a state-wide presidential preferential primary.

Today's session was called by Chairman Hugh J. Rowe after a committee of citizens of the county met in a mass meeting and requested that such action be taken.

The executive committee announced at the conclusion of its meeting this morning that a copy of the resolution would be forwarded at once to the secretary of the state democratic executive committee.

Another resolution adopted today urges the Clarke county members of the state committee to support the move for a state primary when the committee meets on April 15. Members from this county are Mr. Rowe, Tate Wright, and Mrs. Julius J. Talmadge.

The resolutions, presented by John L. Green, secretary of the executive committee, were adopted upon motion of K. A. Hill and seconded by A. O. Flanagan. Mr. Rowe presided.

The committee acted today at the request of Roosevelt supporters in Clarke county, who were represented by a committee of citizens comprising Frank C. Shackelford, chairman; Andrew C. Erwin and Tate Wright, all enthusiastic supporters of President Roosevelt.

As spokesman for the Roosevelt committee at today's meeting, Chairman Shackelford said that "this committee does not feel that it is fair and just for Governor Talmadge, who is a bitter personal and political opponent of President Roosevelt, to have the state executive committee, practically selected and controlled by him, to select delegates to the national convention, when it is known of all men that the democrats of the state of Georgia are overwhelmingly in favor of President Roosevelt."

A mass meeting for the purpose of forming a Clarke county Roosevelt Club will be held here tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the county courthouse.

The meeting was called jointly by Lamar C. Rucker, state senator from the 50th district, and Carlisle Cobb and Jake B. Joel, Clarke county representatives in the legislature.

BEASLEY DOUBTS
LEGISLATION OF SESSION

GLENNVILLE, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—Governor Talmadge's operation of the state government without an appropriations bill, State Senator John Beasley, of Glennville, said he doubted the legality of a self-convened session of the legislature and declared Talmadge "heretofore has made good his promises."

Beasley predicted that the legislature would not pass a bill in this session, saying he had heard of no "authority" whereby the legislature can convene itself.

"I have not heard of a single house or senate member changing their views (regarding an appropriations bill) and since they had 70 full days in which to pass an appropriations bill and since the past two months they have been called into extraordinary session regularly they would agree."

Without placing the blame on the house, Beasley said he believed they had an opportunity and did not pass an appropriations bill, "his statement added."

May Queen Wins Prom Honors At Vanderbilt Class Festivities

By Sally Forth.

WITH the rays of wandering spotlights flitting with the crowds, and striking young couples dancing to the rhythm of dreamy music furnished by a prominent maestro and his band, the junior prom at Vanderbilt in Tennessee was colorfully inaugurated last week-end. Most prominent among the visiting belles who attended the dance was Alma Knight, the future May Queen of Washington Seminary, whose charm and versatility so endeared her to the college swains that she was selected as "prom queen" to reign over the gay celebration.

Alma made quite a hit during her brief visit in Nashville, so much so that even the "fourth estate" dubbed her as a "real Georgia peach." She was not only chosen as prom queen, but she was also selected by the maestro and his committee as one of the most beautiful girls at the ball. This annual affair brought many lovely young girls from all parts of the state to participate, and it was quite a gala occasion for both local and visiting belles. Alma made a queenly appearance in her hand-made gown, gold crown, and huge arm bouquet of flowers, which were presented her upon the occasion.

Eleanor Gray, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Inman Gray, who made her formal debut this past season, was the guest of her cousin, Ann Dickinson, of Nashville, who has been a frequent popular visitor in Atlanta. Eleanor was quite striking in a model of cell blue crepe, which accentuated the golden quality of her hair, and she wore a shoulder spray of orchids. Ann was charming in a gown of pink net with a gracefully flowing full skirt. Her flowers were a shoulder spray of pink roses and valley lilies.

Other attractive Atlantans who attended the celebration which began with the prom on Friday evening and continued with a tea-dance and dance on Saturday, were Emmakate Vretman, Lois Merriam and Helen Aycock, who dropped her studies at Ward-Belmont to join the gayety. Alma was presented with a hand and some gold bracelet as a token of esteem from the Vanderbilt students.

A SCHOOLGIRL friendship between Mrs. William Ogburn and Mrs. James Austin will be renewed Tuesday when the former arrives from Chicago, her present home. As Ruby Reynolds, of Rome and Mac Young, of Valdosta, these interesting matrons were roommates at Lucy Cobb College in Athens. Since her marriage Mrs. Ogburn has lived in the east and a host of Atlanta friends extend welcome to the visitor.

She will be accompanied by her distinguished husband, William Fielding Ogburn, who is chairman of the Social Science Research Council, which is under the sponsorship of the Rockefeller Foundation. In his capacity as head of this committee, he will speak in Atlanta on Wednesday. Their youngest son, Fielding, will accompany his parents to Atlanta.

WHEN Frances North caught the wedding bouquet at the LaHatte-Morris wedding last Saturday, she was practically swamped with a series of congratulations and felicitations from her many friends. But when she also cut the wedding ring from the artistically embossed wedding cake, that was the last straw, and the discouraged young ladies practically refused to try their luck for fear they would get the thimble or something equally as disillusioning. Sally tried to pin Frances down and make her "fess up," but all of her attempts were of no avail, and Frances "won't talk."

Reports of state conference by delegates featured the meeting of the Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., held at Craig House. Mrs. Frances Brown Chase, regent, presided. Reports were given by Mrs. Chase, Mrs. John W. Rice, Mrs. Moreland Speer and Mrs. Henry Baker. The presence of Mrs. William A. ## 'Let Your Stars Guide You'

From the time of the "Three wise men of the East" and long before their day, the world has been keenly interested in the study of astrology, the occult study of the stars, the mystic art that holds the secrets of the universe.

The Atlanta Constitution has made arrangements with Bernice Denton Pierson, eminent American astrologer, to give you a complete astrological analysis of yourself, an analysis which gives a full reading of your sun chart and planetary findings.

The sun, the planet of personal magnetism, gives you the keynote of your own individuality and character. The planetary indications will point the way to your business success, aid you in choosing a husband or wife whose personality will harmonize with your own, or will prepare you for success in your business career. Do not confuse this with the ordinary so-called "horoscopes" of astrological readings which are sent to you through the mail, and which are similar readings, and which consider only the influence of the sun from an astrological standpoint. What you will receive through this offer is a complete character analysis and astrological forecast through the science of astrology.

This service is made possible through a special arrangement with Bernice Denton Pierson by The Atlanta Constitution. It provides that you receive an astrological reading that will be personal, individual, confidential, a reading that points out, not only your good points but your faults as well, and shows you how to avoid the pitfalls that invariably follow when the individual knows not where he stands. It is a service that is unique in the annals of astrology. A service that helps you "know yourself" in a manner that is helpful and beneficial. It is a service that you would ordinarily pay $5 and upward for.

Perhaps in the past you have thought you would like to have a reading prepared for you by one of the foremost astrologers of America, but somewhere the opportunity has never presented itself. Here is just the chance you have been waiting for, made possible by The Atlanta Constitution, to get a complete astrological forecast in such minute detail that the influence of the sun and the planets at the time you were born are made perfectly clear to you.

This reading is prepared and presented by America's foremost astrologer, Bernice Denton Pierson, and will be a priceless asset to you in arranging your affairs of business, of the heart, of the home and social world. Watch for the coupon entitling you to her expert service.

Judge Davis dismissed in its entirety today decrees of the late Judge W. I. Grubb enjoining the TVA from purchasing certain properties of the Alabama Power Company in the Muscle Shoals area.

Johnston offered the amended bill Tuesday, after TVA attorneys asked the dismissal of the suit.

Johnston, who argued the original case before the supreme court, said he expected the supreme court again would be called upon to decide the case, regardless of the decision of the circuit court at New Orleans, which will hear the appeal.

A court case in the original suit, which had been in the courts for more than a year when the supreme court's opinion was read February 17, were assessed against the plaintiffs.

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C.—Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. Isabella Greenway brought her small grandson in to call, and when they left I went down to see them off in their car. I found the entire staff of the White House press waiting under the portico. On inquiring what it was all about, I was told they were waiting for the committee which was discussing relief with the President to come out. I had seen my husband's message the night before, but I realized it might be quite a bit changed after the meeting. For that reason I was not surprised when we made our guests good-night last evening to have my husband say that he had read over his final draft of his message to congress.

To me it is an encouraging message because it voices a faith in the ability of business organizations to really get together and work for employment. This could not be done unless they were genuinely willing to consider the human values.

If they succeed in absorbing a quarter of this burden during the next year, it will mean recognition of the fact that real prosperity can only come when everybody prospers. That even if it costs a little more to employ more people for a time, in the end we will all be more prosperous as the buying power of the nation is restored.

It is a challenge to the common sense and good will of American business people and I feel confident they will succeed. The figures show what a financial burden states and municipalities have carried in the past year for their unemployed, aside from federal relief.

I had seen my husband's message the night before, but I realized it might be quite a bit changed after the meeting. For that reason I was not surprised when we made our guests good-night last evening to have my husband say that he had read over his final draft of his message to congress.

This has been a gray, rainy day and I happened to choose the rainiest part of it to go for a ride. My dogs and I looked like drowned rats on our return.

This afternoon the People's Chorus of New York city, led by Mr. Lorenzo Camilleri, gave a concert at the White House. My husband's mother and an old friend of ours, Mrs. John Henry Hammon, have been interested in this group for a long while, and it was through their interest that they came to us today.

SUNBONNET GIRLS BRIGHTEN KITCHEN.

Which motif of the seven is most amusing? You'll have fun deciding that as you do them, one by one, on a set of tea towels. Just simple embroidery stitches go into making "Sunbonnet Sue" a "bright" girl, and your well-stocked towel rack something for friends to envy. Dive into your scrap-bag for those colorful patches that make the sunbonnets and complete the rest of the picture with outline, running and single stitch. Little daughter should enjoy doing these.

Each month I would suffer all over and would have to go to bed. One of my neighbors told me how Cardui helped her, so I took it, and it helped me. After taking eight bottles, I was much better. I surely can recommend Cardui for weakness and pain."

Of course, if Cardui does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.—(adv.)

Rich, Sicher, Richest Is This Pie.

By FLORENCE La GANKE.

The heat down and bake slowly for one and one-half hours. Remove at once from the pie plate, inverting the pie so that the caramel crust with its nuts is on top. If the pie is not taken out at once the caramel hardens and makes the task of getting slightly pieces of pie an impossibility.

Serve this pie hot with vanilla ice cream on top. Think of the richness and calories in that pie. Butter, brown sugar, nut meats, pie crust, apples, vanilla ice cream. Is it any wonder that a dish such as this is called southern? It has all the elements of southern hospitality. Don't serve this with a heavy meal. Have a thin soup, a small chop, green peas and green salad. Then bring in the pie.

1,320 JAP SOLDIERS FREED.

Parent and Child

During this time of year—and later, there are many school groups taking trips—athletic teams, school orchestras and excursions.

From a hotel official I have learned that whereas many hotels used to give special rates to athletic teams, some do so no longer, since the loss from property taken away or destroyed is becoming so great. A certain college dean, in a college noted for its winning teams, told me he was ashamed to admit the large figure paid out by the alumni athletic association of that college—a condition he was trying to correct—on bills sent by hotels for breakage and theft by the team. And yet we like to think of athletics as one of our best character and citizenship builders!

Who has not sat under the spell of the athletic coach appealing tearfully to the students of the assembly to support the team and help them win? Have you ever heard one of these coaches make a like appeal to the members of his team to conduct themselves while on a trip in such a way as to win honor for their school through good citizenship when not on the athletic field? Unfortunately the latter is not his chief concern! Will he ever make it so?

About the groups of high school boys and girls going together, a hundred or more of them to a group, on an educational excursion. The objective is excellent, and the gain for most of these youths must be wholesome. Not so for all.

Conduct Good. While in a hotel one spring evening, in a city most noted for its school excursions, I was so pleasantly impressed with the conduct of the high school boys and girls I watched dancing and moving about the lobby, that I felt impelled to write their school principal whom I did not know, to tell him of the good impression his students made on me. I have on several occasions done so concerning good conduct of student groups.

Naturally I began expressing my enthusiasm to a bell boy standing near me. But his response discouraged me. "Some of those right there you call fine, you should have seen last night about 2 o'clock." And what he told me of the promiscuous relationships of many of those boys and girls in many of the hotel rooms the night before, is hardly fit to print. I later questioned several other bell boys of that hotel, only to find their reports corroborating the first bell boy's.

SUICIDE MOTIVE REMAINS CLOUDED

Coroner's Jury Fails To Establish Reason for Death of Youth.

After failing to establish any motive for the act, a coroner's jury investigating the death of Edward M. Brantley, 16-year-old high school student, yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of "death from gunshot wounds, self-inflicted."

Brantley was found dead Wednesday afternoon in a closet of his parents' Clifton road home by a negro maid. He left a note saying he had "gone to a place where nobody knows."

The inquest was conducted by De Kalb County Coroner E. Thomas and was held at the Brantley home and at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The dead youth's mother, sister and the negro maid who discovered his body testified. No clues as to the reason for the fatal act were advanced.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill. The Rev. E. J. Carson and the Rev. Paul Muse will officiate. Burial will be in Lithonia.

FLORIDANS INVITE F. D. R. KISSIMMEE, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—The Kissimmee Gazette today said approximately 2,000 telegrams inviting President Roosevelt to view the flood control and drainage needs of the Kissimmee valley will reach the chief executive when he visits Rollins College at Winter Park.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

A Jar of Cream Rouge for Theater Folks Good for Both Cheeks and Lips

BY MIGNON.

The women of the theater are unfailingly smart—cosmetically speaking. It is their business to know what to use, to be sure it is a pure product and to use a great deal of it. There are several houses that make cosmetics especially for theater people and it is always a pretty safe thing to try them if you know a cream, rouge or powder is made especially for the profession.

There is one house that manufactures theatrical cold cream and has made it for many, many years. That also puts out a jar of fine cream rouge. It is very inexpensive and is used for lips as well as cheeks. I have always thought it was a pretty good idea to have the cheek and lip rouge match. It is quite evident that people of the theater think so, too, because so many of them use this product that way.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Expert and Dub Opponents.

I do not claim to be promulgating a new theory when I state that it often is easier to play against good players than bad ones. The logical and accurate bidding of experts unavoidably results in conveying vital information to the opponents as well as to partner. When a poor player raises his partner's suit it becomes a guessing problem as to whether he holds more than two trumps. Even raises on a singleton should cause no astonishment. Consequently it is extremely difficult to visualize, or count out, the hand of a poor player from his bidding alone. Not so with experts. Except for those occasions where they have risked fooling their partner in their more pressing desire to fool the adversaries, after a few bids, and when a few cards have been played, their hands become open books.

Counting the Opponent's Hands. In today's hand East and West made only one bid each, other than the final penalty double. Yet, at a comparatively early stage in the play, declarer was able to determine, within a reasonable doubt, the exact distribution of the remaining cards.

West's double was a trifle too close despite his honor strength and his partner's raise. He was, no doubt, influenced by the fact that he knew South to be a liberal bidder and the hope that this was one of the times when he had his "nose stretched."

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: My wife is a model as far as running her house is concerned but she has a habit that is destroying my respect for her. She is man-crazy and flirts with every man in sight. You may consider this a harmless indulgence. I did, too, at first; but as time has gone along I find I care less and less for her in consequence. Is it possible for a woman to care for her husband and indulge in such a cheap practice?

DISAPPOINTED HUSBAND.

ANSWER: Yes, I think it is possible for a woman to love her husband and at the same time indulge in innocent flirting with other men. Love doesn't change a woman's nature. Some women feed on male admiration as robins feed on worms and they can never seem to get their fill. They are self-centered and vain to the extent that they don't consider the pain they inflict on the men that really love them and they are stupid to the extent that they don't consider the risks they run of forfeiting their husbands' love and respect.

Many a wife who flirts with men promiscuously is trying to find out how her husband feels about her inside: compliments on her looks, her charm, her clothes. In other words, she is trying to patch her romance that has thin places in it. Many a man marries a woman after having flattered her like nobody's business, through the engagement days and honeymoon, then he finds out that she knows what he thinks of her and says it thereafter with dollars and cents. With this no woman ever satisfies much less a vain one. To be taken for granted by her husband is one of the bitterest pills she has to swallow. She never gets too old and wrinkled and ugly to learn for the compliments she once had from him. And if she doesn't get them from him, she is always trying to get them from others. She wants some proof that she hasn't lost her charm or her cunning. As long as she finds a man who will respond to her flirtatious ways she will resort to them.

So the man who is troubled at seeing his wife make a fool of herself over other men has one way of curing her: it is to satisfy her hunger for masculine approval and admiration. How? Simply by flattery. He constantly tells her how he loves her and thinks she is the smartest, sweetest, prettiest, most adorable bit of femininity he has ever seen. That all the women in the world there is none to compare with her from his point of view. If that won't cure her of flirting with other men, she's hopeless.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: I am a widow with one child and am in love with a bachelor who lives with and supports his mother. He has promised to care for her as long as she lives. He wants me to marry him and go to make my home with them. Is this a wise plan? Should his mother hold him to his promise when she knows we are in love and longing to get married? Although my fiancé's salary is insufficient to support two families there are other married sisters and brothers who could contribute to the mother's upkeep. Of course there is the problem of having someone to stay with her. Please help a perplexed wife.

UNCERTAIN.

ANSWER: Everybody concerned knows what is the fair and just thing to do in a case like this but that doesn't mean any of them has the grit to go through with it. It is for the sister and brothers to share and share alike in the support of the mother and either to take turn about in entertaining her or to contribute an amount sufficient to pay her room and board in some suitable and comfortable place. She should be consulted as to which plan she would prefer.

Only in rare instances can a mother and daughter-in-law live happily and congenially under the same roof. Add to this traditional antipathy that usually exists between a woman and her son-in-law some other man's child and there is a pretty kettle of fish. Mighty few mothers want their sons to marry widows and there has probably never been a mother who wanted her son to take on a ready-made family. So the cards are stacked against the bride who plans to take her child and move into her husband's home that is presided over by his mother.

All the fine sentiments that are expressed between an engaged pair are put to crucial tests when they begin their life together and many of them go through a series of readjustments in the new relationship. Stepchildren create problems. In-laws create problems. And if they have in-laws and stepchildren, they have nothing but problems.

Following Metz and Walsh by one stroke were the veteran Walter Hagen, of Detroit, with 71-71-142, and Paul Runyan, of White Plains, N. Y., with 72-70-142. Herman Barron, of White Plains, added a 72 to his 71 to go into a tie with Laffoon at 143.

PETRELS LOSE TO BUFORD, 9-6

Oglethorpe opened its spring baseball schedule by dropping a 9-to-6 decision to Buford's Shoemakers Thursday afternoon at Hernando field. It was the first practice game and Coach Anderson was well pleased with the results except for the Petrels' loose fielding at times.

Buford bunched hits in the second, sixth and ninth innings to pave the way to victory, with Jeter getting two safeties at opportune times.

The Petrels matched base hits with the visitors with 11 each, but were unsuccessful in putting them together when runners were in scoring positions.

Brown, with three hits, led the attack for Oglethorpe. Johnson, Ed Clements, Hugh Clements and Fisher also hit well for the Petrels. Ed Clements hit for a triple and double, while Hugh Clements hit for the circuit in the sixth inning.

Nix, Bassett and White, the latter with Birmingham and Beaumont last season, divided hurling honors for Buford.

Brown, McCullough, Archer and Dean hurled for the Petrels, with Wooten and King dividing the catching.

Oglethorpe will play the Goodyear Mills at Rockmart Friday afternoon. Buford will play its first regularly scheduled game Saturday afternoon against Kincaid Mills, of Griffin, on the Buford diamond.

Buford . . . 030 003 102—9 11 3
Oglethorpe . . . 000 022 002—6 11 4

STREET FLOOR

DAVISON-PAXON CO.

Members of the cast are unknown. But the little drama went something like this:

(Business of one of the sports telephones ringing.)

"Hello."

"Say, can one of you fellows tell me how old Bill Terry is?"

(Business of stalling while the date is checked.)

"Why, Bill Terry was born in Atlanta, Ga., on October 30, 1898. That would make Mr. Terry 36—no, 37 years old."

"Thank you."

(Business of telephone ringing again.)

"Say, how old is Goose Goslin, please?"

(Business of checking the Goose's age.)

"Why, Goose Goslin is an infant, born at Salem, N. J., October 16, 1900. That makes him just 35."

"Thank you. That's great."

For the nonce there was stillness. The sun was shining.

The gossamer clouds of smoke from the railroad yards were wrinkling their way to the heavens and the smooth, beautiful soot from the engines was falling on collars and necks and windows and flower boxes, supplying the carbon so vital to the human frame.

And then the telephone shrilled. There was something impatient about it.

"Hello, sports desk."

"Say, who up there said Goose Goslin was younger than Bill Terry? I had a bet on that. Why, Goslin was with Washington for 10 years."

"Yes, sir," he was. "Nine and a half years, man and boy."

"Do you mean to say he is younger than Bill Terry, two years younger?"

"Yes, sir; he was born in—"

But the receiver had gone bang. The gentleman who had wagered was very, very angry at learning he had lost. Very angry, indeed.

It is a curious experience—to supply the requested information and listen to the shrieks of the wounded.

THE GOOSE AND TERRY.

The Goose, the outfielder they refer to as "The Old Gray Goose," and whose legs, they say, are failing, started his career with Columbia in the old Sally league.

He was a pitcher. And the year was 1920. Goslin played with Columbia in 1921, hitting .390 in 142 ball games. It was this hitting power which made managers keep him in the outfield. It was this same hitting power which took one of the best left-handers in the game out of the box and into the outfield. Fellow by the name of Babe Ruth.

Goslin went to Washington at the last of the 1924 season. It was the last of the 1930 season before the Browns had him. A curious little coincidence was the fact that in 1921 Clyde Milan, now managing at Chattanooga, was Washington's manager. He didn't care for Goslin. But the Goose stuck there.

Meanwhile, what about Terry?

WILLIAM (MEMPHIS BILL) TERRY.

Memphis Bill Terry once replied to an inquiring newspaperman, who asked him when he left Atlanta:

"As soon as I could."

Not a flattering statement about our town, but Memphis Bill is like that. Very caustic. Maybe he had reasons.

But Memphis Bill was given a try-out by the Atlanta club in 1914. That was six years before Goose Goslin appears in the records.

And, curiously enough, Bill Terry also was a pitcher. In 1914 he pitched in Thomasville. In 1915 he was with Newnan and in 1916 and 1917 he pitched for Shreveport.

Not a bad chunker, Memphis Bill. He won 14 Texas league games in 1917 for the Oilers. But his arm was going. So he began playing first base. He wouldn't have gone far as a pitcher. He became one of the greatest first basemen.

And the scouts began to notice him. Toledo saw him in 1922. In 1923 he was with the Giants.

Goslin got to the majors quicker, being there in 1921, the second season he was in baseball.

Bill Terry spent nine years getting there.

THAT'S BASEBALL.

But that's baseball for you.

At 37 Bill Terry is thinking of retiring—would if he could find a first baseman as good as he. And Goslin is given not more than another year or so in the outfield. The legs begin to go. They are "old men" at 35 and 37.

Which is why baseball players have to get it while they are young, if they get it at all. The legs, which are the first to go, move out very fast. The batting eye remains. Ty Cobb could step in and hit .340 today. But he couldn't cover the outfield territory.

THEY AGE VERY FAST.

They age very fast, the athletes do.

The public gets used to seeing their names. And they give them more years than they really own.

There's Flint Rhem, the major league cast-off whom the Nashville Vols signed. Flint Rhem is regarded as an aged, graybeard veteran. Yet Flint Rhem is but 33 years old.

Joey Medwick is something of a veteran. He's a familiar name. You've been knowing Joey Medwick a long time, haven't you?

He was born in 1911.

Pepper Martin? He's just 32.

Carl Hubbell? A veteran of 33.

Casey Stengel likes to tell of how, when he proposed to the young lady of his choice, the young lady's father went purple in the face and said he wouldn't have his daughter marry an old man.

He had seen cartoons of Casey, the year his home runs won series games for the Giants, running the bases with crutches and a beard down to his knees. Casey was just 38. Yet they wrote of his creaking legs.

"I had to go see the old man," he said. "He wouldn't believe I wasn't a graybeard until he saw me."

RIGHT-HANDER.

AUBURN, Ala., March 19.—On the firing line for Alabama Poly assistant Troy Teachers on Drake field at Auburn next Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 in the Tigers first diamond tilt of the year probably will be one of two right handers. Alternate-Captain Millard Morris, senior, Blountville, or John Paul Tipper, junior, Carbon Hill, each of whom is an "A" winner on both the diamond and gridiron. Morris, who led the 1935 Plainmen gridgers, plays end in football and Tipper is a halfback.

MANAGER PETTY SEES GOOD YEAR FOR KNOXVILLE

Working Agreement With Boston Will Aid Pitching Staff.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 19.—(AP)—Silver-haired Jess Petty, 40-year-old major league pitcher, is stepping into his first managerial role at Knoxville this season with a tempered assertion that the Smokies won't wind up in the cellar as they did in 1935.

"Knoxville has strengthened more than any other club in the Southern association," Petty says. "We have seven players capable of hitting .300, and the club looks good defensively."

Petty's only worry right now is his pitching staff. He expects John Lanning and Hobart (Old Lefty) Scott, two youngsters who hurled brilliantly for Knoxville last year, to stick with the Boston Bees. They are on option to that club.

"However, we will look to Boston for replacements," Jess says. "Under a working agreement Knoxville gets first option on Boston players. This should be of great aid to us later on."

PETTY HURLS.

Petty, who started his pitching career in 1916 with San Antonio, Texas, and 10 years later was sold by Indianapolis to Brooklyn for $50,000, will hurl for the Smokies. He is a southpaw. Other members of the pitching staff are Leo Moon and Clarence Heise, left-handers; Bill Beckman and Ray Moss, right-handers, and a flock of rookies. Beckman and Heise are newcomers, the latter winning 17 and losing 4 with Columbus two years ago.

Including Moon and Moss, only six members of last year's team are back. The others are Footsy Blair, tall, rangy second baseman; Paul Bonner, mite shortstop whom Petty describes as "one of the best defensive players in the league"; Dusty Rhodes, rookie third baseman; Bert Maxwell, outfielder.

NEWCOMERS.

Newcomers include three reputed hard-hitting outfielders, Earl Webb, formerly with Milwaukee; Jim Moore, obtained from the Cardinal organization; Art Ruble, purchased from Birmingham, and Neil Caldwell, first baseman, obtained from Houston.

Since the league permits a club to carry 17 players this season, Petty said he planned to add a pitcher.

"We are planning to carry seven pitchers, five class men and two rookies," he says. "We will have three Class A outfielders, two Class A infielders, three Class B infielders and a Class A and B catcher."

Vols Shellacked

By Giants, 19 to 8.

DEFTONIAK SPRINGS, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—Scoring 11 runs in the fifth inning, the New York Giants crushed the Nashville Vols of the Southern Association, 19 to 8, in an exhibition game today.

Four errors by the losers contributed to the victory for the National leaguers. Both teams used a mixed lineup of rookies and regulars.

Manager Lance Richbourg, playing in his home town, was presented a watch by local admirers before the game.

Charles Whitaker, recruit outfielder from North Carolina, has proved the hitting sensation of the Cracker-batting practice. Whitaker batted safely six out of seven times in games with Bogalusa, the Giants, and in Wednesday's intra-camp game. Whitaker, shown above waiting for a catch in practice, can cover plenty of territory in the outfield, besides being a fine right-hand hitter. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Replating Hutcheson

Chief Cracker Worry

Browne Seems Most Logical Choice, Others Inexperienced; Eddie Training for Post.

By Jack Troy.

GULFPORT, Miss., March 19.—A lot of words can be, and are written, in behalf of reserves and bright prospects, but the truth of the matter is the Atlanta Crackers are going to sorely miss Big Joe Hutcheson when the bell rings in the 1936 Southern league race.

As the days wear on, it becomes more and more evident that Hutcheson will not get any spring training. President Earl Mann cannot learn anything definite as to when Hutcheson may be expected to report. The big fellow is, of course, recuperating from a serious illness in a Denton, Texas, hospital.

The general opinion is that Hutcheson may join the team in Atlanta possibly 10 days before the season starts. If he should do that, he would necessarily be in a weakened condition and could not possibly be ready for the early games.

OUTFIELD WEAKNESS.

It is well and good to be optimistic, but there is a weakness in the outfield that can't be written off. The Crackers were counting on Big Joe's bat to aid them greatly in a fast getaway in the race.

There are prospects on the club that can go just as far and shag fly balls just as well as Joe Hutcheson. But there isn't a single one around who can hit that ball as hard, nor a single one that has had so much as an iota of his experience in professional baseball.

Experience, they say, is a great teacher. And it is also a great asset to a professional ball player. With-

Barons Defeat

Rookies, 4 to 1.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 19.—(AP)—The Birmingham Barons are having their big innings—one a game. After playing a 4-4 tie with the rookies yesterday, scoring all runs in one inning, they did the same thing today to defeat the rookies, 4-1. The veteran hurlers, Jones, Coombs and Joiner, showed well. The four runs were made off Sparkman, a rookie.

Rain Halts

Peb Practice.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 19.—(AP)—Rain halted a routine practice drill for the Little Rock Travelers this afternoon. Manager Doc Prothro said the rest would enable his squad to resume its intra-club series Friday afternoon, providing the weather is favorable.

Showing of Prothro's young pitchers has been the bright spot in camp games this week. The Little Rock pilot also was impressed with the way James Holt, former Fort Smith High school athlete, handled himself around first base.

Smokies Pitchers

In Lengthy Drill.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 19.—(AP)—The Knoxville pitching staff went through the paces for three hours today with Manager Jess Petty centering his attention on a trio of rookies.

Showing some promise were Porter Witt, lanky semi-pro of Morristown, Tenn.; Russell Gillespie, who played with Charlotte in the Piedmont league last year, and Johnnie Sain, of Arkansas.

A soggy field prevented batting practices.

Pelican Rookies

Stage Camp Game.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—(AP)—The New Orleans Pelican rookies played a six-inning baseball game this afternoon as the squad went through routine training.

Logansville, Bogart

End Season Friday

BOGART, Ga., March 19.—Perhaps the two strongest girls' basketball teams in this section of the state, Logansville and Bogart, will conclude their respective seasons here Friday night.

TEAM BEGINNING TO SHOW PUNCH; RICHARDS STARS

Champs Face Blues in Third Exhibition Tilt Saturday in Mobile.

By Jack Troy.

GULFPORT, Miss., March 19.—Manager Eddie Moore today selected Bobby Durham and Almon Williams as the pitchers for Saturday's exhibition against the Kansas City Blues at Mobile.

Durham will work five innings and Williams will work four. Between the two the Crackers hope to get off to the right start in their third exhibition game of the season.

There was another long workout today, starting late because of the brisk early morning weather.

And the Regulars-Blue Bird intracamp game, second of the season, developed into the grandest slugfest of the camp.

Five home runs were hit. The Blues hit three but lost the game, 7 to 5.

BUD THOMAS HURLS.

Bud Thomas worked for the regulars and contributed to his own victory by swatting a homer in the fourth inning, breaking a 5-5 deadlock.

The Yankigans hopped into the lead in the first inning when Joel Tierce, the former Tech Jacket, caught one of Thomas' fast balls and lined it to left-center for a home run.

Stanley Back, left fielder, and Jim Galvin, hard-bitting second-string catcher, were other Blue Birds who hit home runs.

The longest home run of the training camp was hit by Paul Richards, regular catcher, with one man on in the third. Richards almost measured the far-away fence in left-center, and came home in a walk. He got it off Bill Schmidt, regular pitcher who tolled five innings for the Blue Birds.

The Crackers are beginning to show.

Pitchers Plentiful, Phillies Are Seeking More Batting Power

WILSON WILLING TO GIVE HURLER FOR OUTFIELDER

Rumors Send Curt Davis to Cubs for Chuck Klein.

By Eddie Brietz.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 19. (AP)—Like the old woman who lived in a shoe, Manager Jimmy Wilson, of the Phillies, has so many pitchers he doesn't know what to do. But no slugger.

He'd give almost anything for just one good, old-fashioned slugger. Now it's the Chicago Cubs that would bring Klein back to Quakertown in return for Curt Davis, the Phil's No. 1 seeded pitcher.

A long-distance hitter or two would make up the best looking Philly team since the 1915 pennant winner, Wilson promised today.

GOOD PITCHING.

"In the past we've always had good hitting and so-so pitching. Now it's just the reverse. We've got the hurling, but no punch."

Along with the rest of the Philadelphia contingent here, Wilson believes this is going to be a National League year in the City of Brotherly Love. He figures the wrecking of the once powerful Athletics will shift the spotlight to the Phillies and he wants to do everything to see that it stays there.

"We've got our chance this year," he said. "If we can get somebody in there to help the pitchers we'll do it."

Casey Stengel To Add 'Daffiness Boys' to Team

Crooning First Baseman To Attempt To Sing Umpire To Sleep During Games.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 19. (AP)—Casey Stengel, a great character who likes to have daffy ones around him as long as they play baseball, has a trio of "daffiness boys" in camp this spring who are bound to spread joy in old Flatbush.

On his Brooklyn club, Casey has a singer who can lull babies and umpires to sleep with his rich tenor voice, an "ugly duckling" who sneers at form, and the only ball player in major league captivity who sports a flowing mustache and a monocle. They are the hits of the spring camp, the apples of Casey's trained eyes.

Bud Hassett, the Manhattan College boy who is expected to hold down first base this year, is called the "Boy with a $50,000 voice." Bud came to the Dodgers via Newark and thus made peace in his family.

His mother, a rabid Giant fan, wanted Bud to play with Bill Terry. His father, just as much a Yankee fan, wanted him to play for Joe McCarthy. As his mother and father argued it things at the gate as well as in the flag race.

As the Phillies shape up now they'll have first-class pitching, a good, but not a great, infield and outfield, but will be one of the lightest batting major league teams in years.

The pitching staff boasts not four, but seven starters, headed by Harry Egan, who turned in 16 victories for last year's seventh-place club.

OTHER STARTERS.
Others listed as starters are Joe Bowman, Hal Kelleher, who won his spurs at Hazleton, Pa., last season; Ruckey Walter, the reformed infielder; Sylvester Johnson, Orville Jorgens and the Indian, Buel Moore.

Wilson says Kelleher has a great sinker ball which he knows how to control. The youngster with the surprising class, the staff will not have a southpaw. The best chance of sticking is Claude Pasanau, who won 20 games for Des Moines last year and whiffed 239 batters in 244 innings. He came to the Phils from Pittsburgh in the Al Todd deal last winter.

CAMILLI AT FIRST.
Between them, Boss Wilson, Bob Grace from Pittsburgh, and William Atwood, a colt from Johnston, will handle the catching.

Wilson believes the hole at short, created by the departure of Dick Bartell to the Giants, will be partially plugged by Leo Norris, bought from Minneapolis.

Dolph Camilli will guard first, Jose Gomez will be back at second and Johnny Vergez at third.

The only uncertainty in the outfield is Lou Chigola, shifted from the infield in an effort to add batting power. John Moore and George Watkins are sure of the other two spots.

Even without hitters the Phillies have no intention of dropping into the cellar.

"I hope Bill McKee didn't have us in mind when he said he was giving up the cellar spot," said Wilson. "He'd be fooled."

Auburn Swimmers To Meet Tennessee

AUBURN, Ala., March 19.—Their record for the season standing at .500, the Alabama Poly swimmers will attempt to go above the halfway mark in their meet with the University of Tennessee in Alumni gymnasium here Friday night. Maryville College has been downed by Auburn's aquatic aces this season and Georgia Tech handed the Tigers a licking in the Jacksonville matches engaged in by the Bengals this year.

Probable scorers for Alabama Poly against Tennessee Friday night include Griswold, Smith, Kierstead and Forbes, 330-yard relay team; Brandt Woodward, 200-yard breaststroke, fancy diving and 220-yard medley relay; Co-Captain McKinney, dashes and 220-yard medley relay; Co-Captain Conner, 100-yard backstroke, 440-yard free style and 220-yard medley relay; and Jim Smith, 220-yard free style, each of whom showed up well in the meets with Maryville and Georgia Tech.

Athens Hi Athletes Practice 5 Sports

ATHENS, Ga., March 19.—Five different sports are taking place at Athens High at the present time. Candidates are seeking positions on the football, track, golf, tennis and swimming teams.

Spring football has been going on for a month with Coach Howell Hollis in charge. Clayton Bowers, track and field coach, has been training the Tenth District champs for over two weeks so as to make a worthwhile showing in the forthcoming district meet.

Plans are being made by Sam Gardner, swimming and tennis coach, to select members of these teams within the next few days. Howell Hollis, golf coach, is expected to name the golf squad during the next few weeks.

Athens High is Tenth District champion in football, track, tennis, swimming and golf.

Mrs. Lake Winner Over Miss Hadfield

JUNIOR COUNTRY CLUB, ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—(AP) Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, New York, former southern champion, defeated Miss Frances Hadfield, Milwaukee and St. Petersburg, several times Wisconsin state champion, one up, in the final match of the first annual St. Petersburg women's invitation tournament here today.

The match was decided on the home green as Mrs. Lake chipped close to the hole, dropped her put for par three and Miss Hadfield missed her putt after chipping short.

Mrs. Lake had an 81 and Miss Hadfield an 83 for the round.

To reach the finals Mrs. Lake scored a stunning upset yesterday by defeating Miss Marion Miller, Lexington, Ky., the medalist, 2 and 1. Miss Hadfield scored an equally surprising victory by defeating Miss Jean Bauer, Providence, R. I., 2 and 1.

Tomorrow the inter-club races and the southeastern individual championship events will be staged.

EARLY PROBE OF WPA PREDICTED BY LEWIS

Senator Holt Would Plan for Definite National Policy.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(AP)—Speedy senate approval of the Davis resolution calling for a broad investigation of the Works Progress Administration was predicted tonight by Senator Lewis, of Illinois, the democratic whip.

The senate expenditures committee, of which Lewis is chairman, reported the resolution today after Senator Davis, republican, Pennsylvania, charged democrats were making a "political football" out of relief.

Senator Holt, democrat, West Virginia, who yesterday demanded a nationwide investigation, said he was drafting a resolution to investigate relief operations and expenditures not only of WPA, but of the old CWA and FEPA as well.

"I believe," Holt said, "that we are going to have the relief problem with us for a long time. I think we should see just what has been done in this and other countries so as to develop a definite national policy for taking care of the destitute."

Davis told the expenditures committee he did not want to "smear" Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, but that he did want to find out what "political men" in relief work "were getting from $1,200 to $10,000 a year."

Hopkins was defended by Lewis, who asserted that if conditions about which Davis complained actually existed, they were due to local conditions.

Senator Van Nuys, democrat, Indiana, suggested the inquiry, if voted by the senate, state with complete political funds had been solicited from relief workers in Pennsylvania.

Davis' resolution calls for $5,000 to start the inquiry.

U. S. RELIEF WORK NEEDS DISCUSSED

Democratic Women From 11 Southern States Meet at Tampa.

TAMPA, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—Defense of the Roosevelt administration's unemployment relief program was heard at the opening session today of a regional conference of southern women democrats, numbering near 100 from 11 southern states.

The gathering was addressed by Mrs. Ellen Woodward, Washington, D. C., assistant WPA administrator in charge of the women's division, who said that relief of the unemployed is a government function which must continue for many years to come.

"It is an obligation," she added, "which will be met in a fearless and humane manner as long as Franklin D. Roosevelt occupies the White House."

Other speakers at this self-styled "political school" said that women democrats could help their party most successfully by studying the record of the Roosevelt administration and by attacking its weaknesses and criticisms of its opponents.

Those who were heard in open forum discussions today were Mrs. Helen E. West, of Tampa, national democratic committeewoman for Florida.

354 GALLONS OF CORN IS SEIZED IN DEKALB

Two automobiles containing a total of 354 gallons of whisky, one driven by a woman who was arrested following a chase and the other driven by a man who abandoned his machine and fled on foot, were confiscated by DeKalb county police early yesterday morning.

The woman, who gave her name as Mrs. Ruby Mae Lovett, 20, of a Highland avenue address, was sighted on the Covington road. She "stepped on the gas" until a police car halted her on Glenwood avenue, several miles away.

She was released under $500 bond. Police allegedly found 204 gallons of whisky in the car.

The other car was pursued by Patrolmen C. M. Cloud and H. G. Tuggle on the Lawrenceville road. The driver turned into a narrow country road, and, when police forced his machine into a ditch, leaped out. The car contained 150 gallons of corn whisky, according to police.

LINT MANUFACTURERS ASSAIL PROPOSED LEVY

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 19.—(AP)—Representatives of South Carolina cotton mills assailed the constitutionality of a proposed state levy of 75 per cent on federal processing tax funds and said large amounts had already been refunded to customers in a hearing today before the house ways and means committee.

The committee took no action on the two bills before it, one by the house agriculture committee and the other by a group of about a dozen representatives. Both measures would impose a 75 per cent tax on processing taxes returned to manufacturers in carrying out the suggestion of Governor Olin Johnston in a special message.
